CURRENCY ARRIVING.

The Bank of England Forgery Case.

MALFEASANCE CHARGED.

NEW YORK, October 20, 1873.

The Bank of England Forgery Case.

Complaints have been lodged with the Police Commissioners against certain detectives and officers for their actions in connection with the arrest of George MacDonnell, the Bank of England forger, charging generally that the officers had been guilty of malfeasance. The course pursued by the detectives in connection with that arrest was at that time the subject of unfavorable comment. James Irving and Philip Farley, of the detective force, were responsible for MacDonnell on the criminal charge of forgery, and Deputy Sheriff Judson Jarvis for the seizure and attachment of all property that might be found in MacDonnell's possession. The detectives did not aid the Deputy Sheriff, but, it was alleged, procured their detention on the quarantine boat while they went on board the Thuringia and made the arrest. When Mr. Jarvis and his assistant were allowed to board the steamship and serve their writs of attachment, they were disappointed to find only a very small portion of the proceeds of the forgeries. Not a single bond was found. The lawyers were surprised at the result of the search, as they had information that the greater portion of the proceeds of the forgeries, to the amount of five hundred thousand dollars in gold, were upon MacDonnell's person. After learning the circumstances of the Deputy Sheriff's detention they directed him to serve attachments upon the detective officers named, and also upon the Superintendent of Police, James J. Kelso. It is said that the papers in the case will be laid before the Grand Jury, when the statements contained in them may be definitely made.

It is reported that the State Attorney General will demand of Mayor Havemeyer the removal of the Police Commissioners for not acting upon information furnished them relative to the alleged complicity of detectives in keeping money received from MacDonnell, the Bank of England forger, on his arrival here. The amount thus obtained is said to be about forty thousand dollars. It is also said that if the Mayor does not remove the Police Commissioners, the Attorney General will request Governor Dix to suspend Mayor Havemeyer until the affair is investigated.

One of the Police Commissioners stated to-day that charges would be laid before the board to-morrow. Detective Farley and Irving, the two thus implicated, state that there is no truth in the charge, and the court closes the investigation. Sheriff Jarvis states that when he went to arrest MacDonnell, he was not allowed on board, while both Farley and Irving were there, had arrested MacDonnell, and had seized some of his effects.

Trial of Stokes.

The trial of Edward S. Stokes was resumed this morning. The defence introduced testimony to show that the prisoner had intended going to Providence at the time of the tragedy, and that he was passing the hotel on the opposite side of the street when he was saluted by a lady from one of the windows, and entered the hotel to speak to her. Fisk arrived a few minutes afterwards.

John Moore testified that when he heard shots he went to the door of the private entrance, and saw Fisk, wounded, who said Stokes was too quick for him this time.

Patrick Logan, a court officer at the first trial of Stokes, testified to conversations he had with Hart and Redmond, hotel servants and witnesses for the prosecution, while conveying them from the court room to the House of Detention. He said they informed him that they expected one thousand dollars each for their trouble, and Redmond told him they were furnished copies of their testimony to commit to memory.

Hart and Redwood, witnesses, said they called in at a number of liquor saloons on the way from the courtroom to the House of Detention.

The story told by Patrick Logan took every one by surprise. Logan speaks in the richest "west of Ireland" accent, and is of a determined aspect. The District Attorney's efforts to shake him entirely failed. He admits concealing the story for a year. His reason for not telling was he did not want to be made a witness, but he expected the jury to disagree, and, as a last resort, if Stokes was in danger of being hanged, he intended to go to Albany and tell the Governor all. After this the District Attorney brought out that Logan was discharged from the police on a charge of not doing his duty at 4th of July riots. He explained that he saved from clubbing by a brutal policeman a poor old man, waiting for admission to the dispensary, and that the officer accused him of interfering. Logan swears that he saved the old man's life, and there is no other charge against him.

After the testimony by Vanderbilt, Horace Clark, J. H. Ramsey and other railroad men, as to Fisk's character, taken on former trials, was read, the court adjourned.

The State Treasury Defalcation.

Frederick B. Sherwin, one of the arrested bankers of Charles H. Phillips, the defaulting Cashier in the State Treasury Department, was at this office to-day in charge of two deputy sheriffs, writing to friends to furnish the requisite amount of bail. It appears that Sherwin only rents the furniture in the office he occupies, so that though there are several attachments against him in the hands of the Sheriff, the property cannot be seized. Phillips' method of proceedure was similar to that of Rodman in Brooklyn, the money remitted by county treasurers having been pocketed instead of deposited to the State's credit.

Court Martial in Session.

A United States Court Martial met to-day at Army Headquarters, to investigate the circumstances attending the removal of Col. Gibbins, Superintendent of General Recruiting Service. The court is composed of Col. N. H. Day, Inspector General, Col. George Getty, of the Third Artillery, Col. J. B. Fry, Assistant Adjutant General, and Major Henry Goodfellow, Judge Advocate. The court was called by the request of Colonel Gibbons.

FIRES.

Madison, Wis.

MADISON, October 20.—Early yesterday morning the large planing mill of Robins & Thornton, together with Roderman's brewery adjoining, and including a cooper shop, stables and other small buildings, were totally destroyed by fire, which caught in the mill, but from what cause is not known.

Wm. Pfannekerchen, a miller, was lying drunk in the second story of the mill, and was burned to death. The loss on the mill and contents is about $40,000; loss on the brewery, $65,000; insurance, $37,000. The mill was one of the best in the State, and had been but recently put in thorough order.

Oswego.

OSWEGO, October 20.—Goit & Post's planing mill burned last night. The loss to the firm and other occupants is $40,000, and the insurance $17,000.

Topeka, Kansas.

TOPEKA, October 20.—The most destructive fire that ever visited Topeka occurred last night. The Commonwealth block was laid in ashes. The total loss is estimated at $100,000; insured for about $60,000.

YELLOW FEVER.

Columbus and Bryan, Texas.

NEW ORLEANS, October 20.—The Picayune's special reports five deaths in Columbus, Texas, from yellow fever since Sunday morning, and one death from fever at Bryan.

Memphis.

MEMPHIS, October 20.—There was a heavy frost this morning, with a prospect of a heavier to-morrow. It had a favorable effect on the fever, but was fearful on thousands not clothed for the winter and made destitute by a succession of calamities during the past year. A majority of the societies and relief boards are unable to supply applications for assistance. Propositions have been received to take some of the orphans, but a great many more are yet to be provided for. John Walsh, undertaker and an alderman from the First ward, died to-day. He was sick only forty-eight hours.

MEMPHIS, October 20.—Mortuary report: 23 from yellow fever; 7 from other causes; total 7.

ITEMS OF INTEREST.

A QUARREL between John Hall and Patrick Cullen, both members of the Sixth Cavalry, at Fort Hays, Kansas, on Friday last, resulted in the killing of Cullen by Hall.

A FEW days since, five geese, owned by a man living at Mormon Island, Cal., died from an unknown disease; and, on examining the gizzard of one, grain-gold, sufficient to make a five-dollar piece, was found.

BOSTON has originated a new mode of charity. The Young Men's Christian Union has inaugurated free carriage rides for invalids who are too poor to hire carriages, but whose condition requires the exercise or recreation; and the Union intends to extend these facilities to the hospitals as well as to private families.

SOME time ago the New York Times published, for the information of carpet baggers in Dixie, a statement to the effect that "forty or fifty millions in greenbacks lie hoarded in the negro cabins of the South;" and now it is said that most any night the vigilant darkey may be detected prowling around his premises with a shot gun.—Brooklyn Argus.

THE people of Georgia are paying new and active attention to education. A tax of one-half of one per cent. is levied upon the real estate of the city of Atlanta for educational purposes alone. The consequence is that large numbers of the best citizens in the State move to Atlanta to obtain the benefit of her well-regulated public free schools.

A LETTER from Padan, Sumatra, says the second expedition to Acheen, which was to have left in October, will consist of a fleet of thirty ships and steamers, and twelve thousand to fifteen thousand men. There will probably be hard fighting on first landing, and perhaps some heavy loss of life, as in the first expedition, but the Acheenese will find out that they cannot stand against mitrailleuses and breech loaders.

MOUNT WHITNEY, in California, hitherto supposed to be the highest peak in the United States, was successfully ascended last month, by a member of the State Survey, and its summit found, by accurate measurement with the barometer, to be 14,898 feet above sea level. But another mountain, known as Fisherman's Peak, has lately been discovered and ascended, near Mount Whitney, which is said to eclipse even the latter in height.

CAUTIOUS readers of the Columbia, S. C., Mail may complain of the editor's inconsistency in acknowledging the receipt of a milk punch in one column, and publishing a "Temperance Department" in the next. But that gentleman, believing in a fair and amicable division of labor, explains that the "editor of the Mail has nothing to do with what goes into the temperance column of his paper, nor have the gentlemen who conduct that department anything to do with what goes into the editor of the Mail."

LADIES should remember that while articles of jewelry may of themselves be beauty they do not always enhance the beauty of the wearers. Having observed the ear-ring, the eyes insensibly wander to the ear from which it depends, and the majority of ears are not pretty. So a showy ring often informs us that the owner has very ugly ears. The same is true of bracelets; we learn by them how few pretty round wrists are among us. The sensation caused by a diamond ring on a hand whose owner bites her nails, and ignores nail brushes, is disagreeable, but the admiration called forth by a well-cared hand is indescribable.

KEYSTONE BREVITIES.

SCRANTON has closed its wicket cricket season.

THE Dickson works of Scranton have reduced the wages of all their employees ten per cent.

DAVID H. WILLIAMS, of Sunbury, committed suicide at that place on Tuesday last by throwing himself in front of a railway train.

ON Friday morning the barn of James Fulton in Lower Chanceford township, York county, was destroyed by fire, involving a loss of $2,000, which is covered by insurance.

MR. GEORGE SPANGLER, wife and mother-in-law, of Somerset, Somerset county, were all badly injured one day last week by their horse running away and they being thrown out of the buggy.

THE York Republican sees a big job with a ring in it, in the proposed sale of the Poor House property of that county and turning it into a hotel and double railroad station. It asks the Grand Juries to keep their eyes open.

THE Pottsville free concerts in the Agricultural Park of that city have proven a success. They have been given through the courtesy of the proprietors of the Miners' Journal, who have footed entirely the expenses of the entertainments.

THE father of Charles Metz, of Titusville, who was killed in the Cross Cut Railroad accident, December 24, 1872, has just recovered $5,000 damages in the Court of Quarter Sessions in Buffalo. A large number of other suits will be commenced against the Company forthwith.

ON Sunday night, October 12th, the barn of Mr. George Grubb, of Clearfield county, was destroyed by fire. Two colts, the harness for three horses, a wagon, windmill, about five hundred bushels of oats, fifty bushels of wheat and a large lot of hay and fodder were consumed in the flames. Loss, $3,500; insured for $1,000.

THE Smith forgeries at Altoona show a remarkable piece of business which must have gone on in that town a long time. Smith organized the Enterprise Trading Company, and with imaginary stockholders carried on the business till the extent of his forgeries distracted him, and he gave himself up. No informations have, as yet, been made against him. On Friday last Mr. G. S. Meyers, of the Altoona bank, made an information against Smith, and he was formally committed.

THE Parker and Karns City railroad enterprise is fast approaching completion. On the Parker end of the route a large force of men are employed removing buildings and clearing the way generally through Parker City. Ties have been laid on about a quarter of a mile of the road, commencing at the bridge. Several flat cars have been received, and an engine is expected to arrive in a few days. In less than two weeks, it is thought, some two miles of the track will be laid and in running order.

THE Washington Examiner contains the following statistics on the wool products of Western Pensylvania: Beaver county stands third in the list of the wool-producing counties of the State. Washington county takes the lead with 1,862,752 pounds, Greene following with 441,489 pounds, and Beaver third with 421,967 pounds. In Beaver county the greater part of the wool is grown on the south side of the Ohio river; and in the south side townships, Hanover is the leading wool-growing township, and perhaps Greene is the next.

RISTORI reappeared in London, on the 1st of October, at the Opera Comique, as Marie Antoinette. She acted there on the 6th, in a new play, written expressly for her London season, by Sig. P. Ciaccometti, entitled "Renee de France et les Huguenots."

FOREIGN ITEMS.

SINCE the general election of 1868 in England, the Conservatives have gained twenty-eight seats and lost seven.

THE people of Turkestan complain of the oppressions of the Governor, Mehamed Alum Khan; he is accused of fining them for petty and imaginary offences, and forcing them to pay by selling their children.

THE ex-Empress Eugenie is announced to have written to a friend a letter, in which, speaking of the proposed union of Bonapartists and Radicals, she says: "Such an alliance I consider as a disgrace, and the duty of every Bonapartist is to repudiate it with contempt."

A MEXICAN paper tells us that the richest gold fields in the world have just been discovered in the Argentine Republic. The first discoverers are said to have sold out their claims for $100,000,000. Such statements need not be accepted too unreservedly. The Argentine Republic wants immigrants.

ACCORDING to a statement which recently appeared in the London Times, the consumption of ardent spirits in Great Britain during 1872 amounted to 35,941,517 gallons; malt liquors, 28,591,326 barrels; wine, 16,765,464 gallons; other liquors, 11,000,000 gallons; total cost to consumers, $597,714,070.

THE discovery has just been made, at Rome, on the Esquiline Hill, of some enormous ancient vessels in potteryware, the largest ever found, and of such a size that a man could easily live in one. The fact is therefore clear that the famous tub of Diogenes was not made of wood, but of earthenware, as is, in fact, implied in the passage of Juvenal.

FINANCIALLY, the Home Rule agitation does not seem to be getting on well, if we may judge from the statement made at a meeting in Dublin the other day that the Association has in hand only £242 16s. 11d. That is rather a small sum for the purposes of revolution. It is beggarly when compared with the amount that O'Connell drew in the shape of "rint."

M. THIERS is reported to have said recently, in speaking of the trial of Marshal Bazaine: "This affair is unfortunate for France. It should never have been allowed to arrive at the point where it now stands; far better to have stifled it altogether. Marshal Bazaine is in possession of crushing documents which are a disgrace to our army; whole regiments refused to march, under the walls of Metz, at the moment when the business was to force a passage through the enemy's lines."

THE Canadian Government is following the policy of this country in gradually removing the Indians to reservations further and further west, as the demand for the lands occupied by them increases. It has recently removed the Indians west of the line of road between the Dominion and Manitoba, and has recruited a mounted police force to serve in Manitoba and the Northwest. They are to act both as policemen and as cavalry soldiers to keep Canadians in order and to "awe" the Indians.

POLITICAL NOTES.

SENATOR THURMAN feels sure of his re-election by a Democratic majority of nineteen on joint ballot in the Ohio Legislature.

THE election returns indicate that the majority of McKinstry, the candidate of the Independent Peoples' party for Supreme Court of California, is about 3,000.

THE State Senate of Maine contains a single Democrat. He will at least have the consolation of knowing that every measure he proposes will receive the unanimous support of his party.

THE following states have yet to go through the agonies of State elections: November 3d, Texas; November 4th, Massachusetts, New York, Wisconsin, Minnesota and Virginia.

J. W. NESMITH, the Democratic Representative in Congress from Oregon, just elected, was the joker of the United States Senate while he was in that body, and liked by everybody.

A RECENT letter from W. C. Wickham to Judge Alexander Rives strongly indorses the Republican ticket for State officers in Virginia, and speaks encouragingly of its prospects of success.

THE Republican candidates for county offices in Blair were all elected by majorities ranging from 400 to 800, with the exception of Fitcher, Rep., for prothonotary, who was beaten by Stewart, Dem., by over 300.

THE Boston Journal of Commerce is very indignant at the attempt to recall the charter of the Boston Grange, and suggests, if the threat is carried out, the organization of a new order, to be known as the Patrons of Industry.

THE people who call themselves Conservatives, in Virginia, are forming what they style Kemper Kampaign Klubs. The initials, which they seem fond of using alone, in the headings of their advertisements of meetings, are suggestive of the Ku Klux Klan. These same people are earnestly endeavoring to make the election a contest between the races, and this is also suggestive.

THE Mauch Chunk Coal Gazette of Friday says: "The Republicans of Carbon did nobly in the election of Tuesday. For the first time they elected their entire county ticket, gave a majority for the State ticket, and defeated the regular Democratic candidate for Assembly. Mr. Struthers, Republican candidate for the State Senate, is defeated by only 400." In the Representative district composed of Carbon and Monroe the Independent Democratic candidate is elected.

THERE was a quiet little election in the town of Bushnell, Ill., a few days ago, to obtain an expression of the wishes of the citizens for or against licenses for the sale of intoxicating liquor, and the Judges decided that as it was desirable to obtain the general sentiment, they would receive the votes of the women also. This being made known, 123 ladies assembled at the Methodist Episcopal Church, and there marched to the polls and deposited their ballots, unanimously against license. The vote of the town was strong the same way.

PERSONAL.

MISS THEODISSA BROWN, of Whitehall, astonishes all the other Browns by preserving a weight of 400 pounds on a diet of one egg per diem.

MARSHAL MANTEUFFEL lately said, in an interview with a friend, that the antagonism between Prince Bismarck and himself exists no longer.

STANLEY, of African exploration notoriety, sailed recently, as correspondent of the London Times, for the west coast of Africa, taking with him a large steam launch.

MADAM RATAZZI is going to publish a pamphlet treating of the affairs at Aspromonte and Mentana taken from the private papers of her late husband. Several distinguished persons will, it is said, be compromised by the publication.

IN HIS opening address at the entertainment of the Delta Kappa Epsilon Fraternity at Easton, on Thursday evening, Whitelaw Reid, Esq., of New York, of the Kappa Chapter, Miami University, paid tributes to several of the distinguished living members, and to Theodore Winthrop and Minor Wilking among the dead.

BISMARCK is the cousin of Victor Emmanuel. How is this? It is thus. All wearers of the order of the Italian Order of the Annunziata can call each other cousins. The King of Italy has bestowed this order on Prince Bismarck, accompanying it with a portrait and a letter in which he signs himself as vostro affetuosissimo cugino Vittorio Emmanuele.

REV. DR. NEWMAN HALL, of London, at the conclusion of his sermon on Sunday evening, called attention to the monument which was about to be erected in connection with his chapel in London by the workingmen there to the memory of Abraham Lincoln. He reminded his hearers that during their great civil war the sympathizers with the Federal powers held a meeting in his church in London, and at their instigation the monument of Lincoln was about to be erected. The amount required for the completion would be £7,000. They would be able to raise half of that amount in England, and he had no doubt that the people of the United States would contribute the remainder.

SWEDISH AND DANISH SERVANTS.

How the Experiment Has Succeeded—Troubles Experienced—Interference With Them, &c., &c.

The Wilmington Commercial says:

The experiment of bringing over house servants from Sweden and Denmark has not been unattended with trouble, though, in a general way, it has succeeded pretty well. Between 200 and 300 in all, have come over, under the auspices of the parties in this city, known as the "Wilmington Householders Association, and sixty more are expected before the end of November. Twenty will arrive in a few days.

Most of these have been Swedes, and the larger part of them are female domestics. Generally they have proved very good servants. As a rule, they are "not afraid of work," and, as a lady remarked to us, there was never, "too much to do," it was never "too dirty," or "too hard," or took "too long." They have proved to be uncomplaining and persevering. The great difficulty, however, is that many of them have not kept their contracts to stay a year. A case in point is that of a gentleman of Doylestown, Pa., who advanced the passage money for two Danish girls, paying $45 apiece in each case besides about $7 each for other charges. A contract, in duplicate form (one English and one Danish), was made and signed by the gentleman and both girls, by which the latter agreed to remain in his employ one year, at $8 per month, of which $4.25 per month was to be paid them, and $3.75 withheld to make up, at the end of year, $45. They stayed with him about five months, and a few days ago, without notice or intimation of any kind, ran away to Philadelphia, leaving him out of pocket the seven months' advance, amounting to $52.50. They had been very kindly treated, seemed to be quite happy, and as they could not speak a word of English, their employer had made patient effort to teach them, procured a Danish newspaper for them, etc.

This, however, is but one of many similar cases. A large number of them have left their employers, without serving the full year.

A large number, however, of those who have been engaged and had their passage money advanced, have stayed out their contract. Perhaps half have done so. Some of the first who came finished their year and are still at the same places. Quite a number remain about Middletown, to which locality the first colony came nearly eighteen months ago. The trouble has been made by meddling persons who persuaded the girls that they could get higher wages.

Making all allowances for trouble, however, this class of domestics are regarded as very desirable, and it is likely many more will be secured, affecting, in no small degree, the quantity, quality, and price of domestic service in the country.

Trial of Marshal Bazaine.

PARIS, October 20.—In the Bazaine court martial to-day the examination of witnesses was commenced. The President of the court announced that the order of questions observed in the interrogation of the accused would be followed. Marshal Le Boeuf was the first witness. He swore that, in his opinion, Bazaine's responsibility as commander-in-chief began not before the 28th of August, and that until then he held a subordinate command, with which position he seemed satisfied.

Marshal Le Boeuf described the hesitation and indecision which followed Bazaine's assumption of the chief command, but did not consider him responsible for the failure to destroy the bridges on the Moselle.

General Le Brun was the next witness. His testimony went to show the insufficiency of Bazaine's measures to effect a retreat to Verdun.

General Cissey was sworn. He stated that the delay which led to the battle of Borney was severely questioned in a council of war, but he acknowledged that he was not fully acquainted with the instructions received by the Marshal.

General Garris, Bazaine's chief of staff, testified that his commander was distant in manner and uncommunicative.

Kerateyi gave an account of the negotiations in August, carried on through Madame Bazaine, to obtain her husband's appointment to the chief command, which was necessary because of the embarrassment caused by the Emperor's presence at headquarters.

Jules Favre deposed that he endeavored to consolidate the military direction by keeping Marshal Bazaine in his position as commander-in-chief.

Count de Palikao gave testimony in pointed contradiction with that of Kerateyi.

SPAIN.

The Bombardment of Valencia Imminent.

MADRID, October 20.—The Intrasigente squadron from Cartagena arrived off the harbor of Valencia yesterday, followed and closely watched by several British, French and Italian men-of-war. Contretras, commanding the squadron, sent a boat ashore with a demand for money and provisions. He declares that he wishes to avoid a bombardment, and appeals to the supporters of Cantonal independence to Valencia to see that his demand is conceded. The authorities of the city, however, promptly refused to comply, and are actively preparing for defense. Troops are going forward from the capital to reinforce the garrison.

The insurgents threaten to seize or sink the Spanish gunboat Lepanto, which is now lying in the harbor of Valencia. They have already captured three Spanish merchantmen at the entrance of the harbor.

The British Admiral Yelverton demands that ninety-six hours' notice be given before the bombardment begins, and has warned Contreras that if a shot is fired at the Lepanto before the expiration of that time the English, French and Italian vessels will open on his squadron.

It is thought the rebels will make no attempt to land, but will proceed to some port on the French coast after collecting all the money they can terrify the Spanish towns into delivering.

NEW YORK, October 20.—The following paragraphs are taken from foreign newspapers just received:

The remains of the late Dr. Nelaton were interred at Perre la Chaise without pomp, in accordance with his expressed wish, but a large concourse of his professional admirers accompanied the funeral. The pall, as a graceful compliment, was borne by the representatives of learned ladies. M. Nelaton has left in France a sum equal to £280,000. The late Emperor Napoleon made him Senator, an honor to which £1,200 per annum were paid, in return for having saved the life of the Prince Imperial.

A person, giving the name of John Barlow, presented himself lately to some of the leading firms in Italy with a circular of credit of Messrs. Drexel, Morgan & Co., of New York, for £2,000. He took the greater part of the money in Rome, and almost the whole of the remainder in Florence. On the following day, when the draft came to be presented in a London house by Mr. Barlow, it turned out that the credit was issued in the name of an American lady, and that the name and signature had been replaced by that of John Barlow. Several of the first banking houses on the continent have been defrauded of large amounts in this way, the names in whose favor these letters of credit are issued having been effaced both in body and in signature so as not to leave the slightest trace, and the name of the party inserted who presents the credit, and who is ready to exhibit his passport, or proper proofs of identity, if demanded.

SAN FRANCISCO, CAL., October 20.—The brig J. D. Falkenberg has arrived from Portland, Oregon, with Honolulu dates to September 4. The Hawaiian Gazette says on the 10th inst. an editorial was published in which it was stated hat the King was rapidly recovering from his ate illness. This illness has drawn the attention of all the people to the subject of the succession, and the King was strongly urged to nominate his successor. On the 24th of September the Gazette says: His Majesty continues to improve rapidly. Last evening he drove out for the first time since his illness. He is now at his palace.

The residents in the town and the household troops, consisting of fifty privates, not including the band, rose in mutiny on the 18th of September. By a royal order of Lunalillo, they have been disbanded.

A letter from Pilo states that there is no cessation in the action of the Hummit Crater. Kilania was never more beautiful than now. The lava streams flowing out of the old South Lake continue unceasing. Severe eruptions are anticipated.

NEW YORK, October 20.—A letter from Vienna states that the Society of Arts and Manufactures of Lower Austria has made awards of their silver medals and diplomas to deserving foremen, workmen and representatives of foreign countries, and represented at the Exhibition. About one hundred persons received medals, five of them Americans, including George William Howe, of the Howe Sewing Machine Company, Cleveland, and Geo. W. Baker, with the Wilson Sewing Machine Company, of the same place. Faithful service for many years, dutiful and zealous attention to the interests of the principal, energetic, humane guidance of their subordinate fellow workmen, a strictly moral conduct of life, a striving for higher accomplishments, and successful teaching of the apprentices entrusted to their care, were the qualifications requisite to entitle foremen and head workmen to enter into competition.

NEW YORK, October 20.—The Berlin Deutsche Nachrichten of the 3d gives the following official definition of the present state of the relations between Italy and Germany: The formal basis of an agreement had already been fixed before the visit of the King of Italy to Berlin took place. An eventual offensive and defensive alliance can only be concluded on a well-defined basis, and two military conferences have taken place between Field Marshal Count Von Moltk, and General Bertole Vivale, in the presence of other officers of high rank. This will show pretty nearly the nature of the preliminary negotiations. No definite resolutions have been taken by the two allied Governments with reference to steps eventually to be taken by them at the next Papal election. Signor Minghetti declared to his diplomatic friends here that the Governments looked at Papacy from different points of view, that the German Government was guided by reasons of State, while Italy occupied herself with the cardinal point of the Papacy, namely, the question of the property of the Church, and Switzerland combated rebellious priests with the aid of Democracy. We believe ourselves justified in supposing that statesmen have discussed the question of an eventual monarchy restoration in France. It has been pointed out that the next election of a Pope may possibly take place at a time when the Bourbons are occupying both the thrones of France and Spain. In that case a holy alliance of Jesuitic governments would make it necessary that doubly strict measures should be taken with reference to the next Papal election.

Removing Indians from the Mexican Frontier.

SUPREME COURT DECISION.

WASHINGTON, October 20, 1873.

The outstanding legal tenders amount to $659,476,488.

Supreme Court Decision.

The Supreme Court of the United States to-day affirmed the decision of the lower court in an appeal of the New York Central Railroad from the decision of the Circuit Court of the Southern District of New York, awarding damages to a drover named Lockwood, who received injuries while riding on a drover's pass. The court directs the payment of interest until paid, at the usual rates in such cases in New York, sustaining the rulings below that the contract made by the defendant and the pass issued to him were no impediments in the way of recovering if he was not guilty of neglect of ordinary care and prudence which contributed to his injury, and there was no such negligence on his part in leaving the car and proceeding to look after his cattle in the manner stated as would debar recovery. Judge Bradley delivered the opinion.

Removing Indians from the Mexican Frontier.

H. W. Atkinson and Thomas G. Williams, Commissioners appointed to negotiate for the removal of the Kickapoos, Pottowatomies and other roving bands of Indians from the frontier of Mexico back to reservations in the United States, submitted their report to the Secretary of the Interior to day. Its information has been anticipated by the newspapers, except as to the fact that the appropriation made for this service has been found insufficient, and the Secretary is urged to request another to complete the work.

In conclusion, the commissioners express the opinion that what they have already accomplished has added very largely to the wealth of the country in the enhanced value of vast and splendid grazing and agricultural lands of Western Texas, which heretofore were shunned by settlers and emigrants on account of the presence of these Indians on the Mexican border. Moreover, removing these Indians takes away the pretext hitherto used by Mexican cattle thieves and marauders. No further raids into Texas can be charged directly to lawless frontier citizens of Mexico.

An Umpireship Accepted.

The assent of his Government having been obtained, Sir Edward Thornton has consented to serve as umpire in the United States and Mexican Claims Commission, and has signed the requisite declaration in the office.

Currency Arriving.

An express company to-day received $800,000 in currency, and it is believed other companies received enough from the interior to swell the aggregate to about $3,000,000.

THE STORM.

Damage to Canal Boats on the Hudson River—Railroad Bridge Swept Away.

NEW YORK, October 20.—A storm, accompanied at times by a heavy rain, has prevailed here during the past twenty-four hours. The only disaster thus far reported occurring in the neighborhood is that to the tow of canal boats on the Hudson river, but the loss of life and boats is said not to be so great as early dispatches indicated. The Western Union Telegraph wires East were pretty generally damaged. The bridge at Moose's, on the Lehigh & Susquehanna Railroad, was swept away this morning.

PEEKSKILL, N. Y., October 20.—Later investigation shows that six canal boats lost in last night's storm, three from the steamer Alidia's tow and three from the steamer Syracuse, were all heavily laden. The loss is estimated at $150,000. No loss of life is definitely ascertained.

The Great Tabernacle Tent Destroyed.

A dispatch from Baltimore announces the destruction there by the storm of the great Tabernacle Tent, in which religious services have been held in several cities of the country during the past two years, under the direction of the National Camp Meeting Association.

A Schooner Ashore at Oswego.

OSWEGO, October 20.—The schooner New York, ashore above the piers, is breaking up, and will be a total wreck. The storm is the severest of the season, and it is feared that other disasters have occurred.

Disasters on Lake Erie.

CLEVELAND, OHIO, October 20.—The schooner Jesse Conger, loaded with stone, from Kelley's Island to Erie, went ashore at this port to-day. She lies in a good position, west of the pier, and it is thought she can be got off with but little damage. A life boat from shore rescued the crew.

The propeller Estabrook, loaded with lumber, was wrecked at Fairport, Ohio, last evening, by striking a sunken pier. No lives were lost.

A severe northeast storm commenced last evening and a high wind has raged all day to-day and to-night.

Rise in the Lehigh River.

MAUCH CHUNK, PA., October 20.—The Lehigh river at this point has risen over six feet to-day, and things are beginning to look dangerous. People are becoming alarmed, and great danger is anticipated if the rain continues till morning. The railroad company has put all their lumber on cars, which have been run on the bridge to keep it from being carried away.

Freshet and Land-slides near Kingston, New York.

KINGSTON, N. Y., October 20.—A severe rain storm has raged here since twelve o'clock last night, causing a freshet in all the streams. At high tide to day the docks were under water. The freshet is increasing, and still higher water is expected. Several land-slides are reported on the New York, Kingston & Syracuse Railroad, and the water is above the track in Beaverkill swamp. All trains have been delayed. No great damage has yet been reported from the freshet, but there must be considerable if it continues.

Horrible Domestic Tragedy in Indiana.

CINCINNATI, October 20.—A dispatch from Bedford, Lawrence county, Indiana, says that Thomas Christopher, a blacksmith living near that place, who had lost one leg, entertained a neighbor, John Morrow, last night, who had put up with him for the night. Having suspected an undue intimacy between this man and his wife for some time, he watched closely last night, and entering his wife's bedroom about ten o'clock, he verified his suspicions. In a fit of frenzy, armed with a knife, he first stabbed his three children, then his wife, and, turning on John Morrow, dealt him two gashes in the face. Morrow threw him down, took the knife away from him, and plunged it in his body ten or eleven times, killing him instantly. Morrow was arrested. Mrs. Christopher was stabbed in the abdomen, and the bowels protrude from the wound. It is thought that she and one child will die. All the parties bore a good name and were respected.

OHIO ITEMS.

GARRETTSVILLE, Ohio, has the biggest radish. It weighs 3¾ pounds, and measures 14 inches in circumference, and is 16 inches in length.

THE races at Steubenville closed on Friday. Harry P. won the trotting race and Hero the running race. They proved a success.

A TEXAS paper says the name Texas is Celtiberian, or Spanish. Some tell us it has the meaning of 'Paradise'—the suggestion no doubt, of a Carankawa buffalo hunter! Others seem to think it meant Friend, a much feebler sort of guess. But, as in all original cases of the kind, nature herself has indicated the sense of the nomenclature. Tehas meant and means Plain in the Celtic—the great plain near Spanish Saville being named Tehesa. Texas and Poland were named in the same way, and for the same reason, meaning level or plain countries. There was a Texas, or raised platform, for the noble family in the hall of every prince and baron of the medieval ages, and it was spelled Dais."

Panics and Safe Investments.

REPORT OF THE

NEVILLE BUILDING

AND

Loan Association.

In times like the present it is the duty of every one to inquire into the safety of their investments. The first query of those having made investments, is in respect to their safety. We find upon investigation that none of these doubts exist among those who have invested their savings in reliable Building and Loan Associations, for there is no questioning the safety of an investment that is founded on the basis of all securities—real estate and labor. We are aware of the growing tendency to invest in real estate. It is already the favorite among the securities of the New York market. Associations have now taken the place of Northern Pacific's, and corner lots have supplanted Ohio and Mississippi's. Land in reality is the basis of all security. None of the elements destroy it, and it is less affected than any other security by the fluctuations of a panicky money or stock market. It possesses all the advantages of other securities, with none of their objectionable features. Experience has demonstrated that a well conducted and carefully managed Building and Loan Association offers advantages and inducements to investors unequalled by any other security in the market.

The report of the NEVILLE BUILDING AND LOAN ASSOCIATION only represents about nine working months, and we think it will present a most flattering exhibit of the prosperity of the Association which has been wholly organized and put in operation within the year.

The Directors have decided to allow subscribers to participate in the profits of the past year, amounting to over fifty per cent. on the amounts paid in. This is an opportunity for profitable investment never before given by any similar Association. The offer will remain open for thirty days from October 1, and after that date subscribers must pay the accrued premiums on the stock. The stock of this Association offers a perfectly safe investment, and pays a handsome dividend to all holders. Stock can be obtained by early application to F. A. BATES, Secretary, No. 83 Wood street. Meetings of the Association will be held at the office of HERRON & BATES, on Saturday evening of each week, at 7½ o'clock. oc21:c24

THE International Association of Locomotive Engineers, embodying, we judge, those of this country and Canada, are holding their annual session in Philadelphia. From the annual report of the chief Engineer, we gather that there are nine thousand five hundred members in the organization, among whom eighty-three deaths have occurred during the year, which is not an excessive per centage. Singularly, however, the disease causing death very generally is consumption. Why this should be so, it is difficult to say—whether exposure to draughts of air, from the rapid motion of the cars, or whether the jar of the swift moving locomotive serves to affect the soundness of the lungs. Sobriety and good order are enforced among the members of the fraternity, and considerable sums are annually distributed in charities each year.

THE Democrats and Republicans of Fayette county seem to have formed a mutual admiration society. The Republicans could not elect a Judge of their own and accordingly selected the best of the opposing Democratic candidates, and voted for him—thus securing a Fayette county man, General Wilson, who, in a large degree, enjoys the confidence of all parties and will make a capital Judge. The Democrats, appreciating this generous and judicious course of their Republican fellow citizens, with more than ordinary Democratic grace, voted for Jasper M. Thompson, Esq., the Republican candidate for Assembly, and thus secured the election of one of the very best men in the county, to represent them in the Legislature. We felicitate our Fayette county neighbors on the integrity, ability and high moral worth of their new Judge, and their new Assemblyman.

BE HAPPY.

We are really gratified to see how perfectly happy the result in Ohio has made our Democratic contemporaries. They have so long been accustomed to indulge a mournful tone at the conclusion of a political canvass, that they even seem like the man who went a hundred miles to find a place where he could indulge himself with a thoroughly jubilant laugh. Ohio tickles them all over. Roosters that have long pined in solitary confinement are permitted to flap their wings and give full exercise to their sweet voices. Staring head-lines, properly supplemented with exclamation points, beautify the heads of columns. If there is a trifle of extravagance in the jubilant tone of the editorials announcing the election of "Old Bill Allen," or freer use of adjectives than is usually thought to belong to good writing, it is certainly pardonable under the circumstances. We do not doubt that there are those among the host of Democratic editors who almost imagine themselves roosters, and incontinently flap their elbows, and are even nearly betrayed into a "cock-a-doodle-doo." Well, we like to see people happy, and can afford to lose an election occasionally, just because of the good it does our Democratic friends.

THE RAILROAD ARTICLE.

There will be a lively time in the Constitutional Convention to-day, as the special committee of seven, appointed to revise the Article on Railroads, is expected to report. On Friday last, the report is, the railroad companies caught the anti-railroad men napping. The seventh article, which had been adopted, and which prohibits all discriminations in rates, was reconsidered and a brief debate had over it. During the progress of this debate it became clear that a number of those who had originally voted for the article were ready to vote for the recommitment of the article to a special committee of seven, which was done. They report to-day. It is understood that the committee stands five in favor of the railroads to two against, and the report to be submitted to-day will embody the views of the railroad companies on the subject of discriminations in freights. So much is clear. What will become of this report remains to be seen. There is much talk of corruption, and while there may be some reason for it, there is room for criticism as well in another direction.

It is well known that of those who favored the rule reported, a considerable number were absent. It is admitted that but for absenteeism, the section could not have been reconsidered, nor the special committee formed. Absenteeism has been the curse of the Constitutional Convention. A short time since, a motion was actually made to reduce the number required to constitute a quorum to forty-five. These absentees, without doubt, will draw pay for full services. Let us then put the case. We say nothing here as to the wisdom or unwisdom of the section whose repeal is sought; but it is charged that the movement to repeal it is corrupt. Grant it. On the other side, we understand it to be true, that were all the delegates present, there would be no possibility of changing the action of the Convention. Are not the absentees, therefore, who are paid for time they do not give, just as corrupt as those who may have been "persuaded" to change their minds? The article itself, that is sought to be repealed, has not met our views from the outset. What the people want is cheap freightage. When they get this, the get what they ask for. This could have been given, by an easily worded section. No effort was made to do this. In place, a section was provided that simply requires that one man shall not have freights cheaper than another man. It does not provide that the rate shall be cheap to either of them,—but that if John Jones is overcharged, John Smith shall be overcharged too. It is a game of sixes, in which the railroads will beat, if at all, because members whose services are paid for, do not choose to attend to their duty.

THE FINANCIAL OUTLOOK.

There is a divided opinion among intelligent financiers and business men, as to the length of time that will be required to relieve localities, and even the country at large, from the present financial pressure. There are conditions involved which cannot be reasoned upon. It is, for example, perfectly well known, that countrymen, small dealers, and small investors, have, many of them, withdrawn the greenbacks they were able to command at the outbreak of the panic from circulation, and are hoarding them. We have not, as yet, seen an approximate estimate of the amount of currency thus withdrawn from active circulation, but it is known to be enough to seriously cripple business operations. This difficulty will not be relieved till confidence is generally and fully restored. It will not contribute to the restoration of confidence, but these hidden and hoarded greenbacks will slowly come back into circulation, when business is once again in full operation. It is, in one view of the case, an exceedingly unfortunate circumstance. It is outside of all ordinary business calculations, and independent of the influences which usually operate in rectifying ills or errors in business, in its general operations. The only thing that can be done is to leave the hoarding evil to cure itself. If the business of the country recovers from its financial embarrassments, it must be entirely independently of the evil to which we have referred. That it will be harder to do, and require more time, than if the hoarded money were returned to circulation, is without doubt; but these are evils that are inseparable from the situation.

But, aside from this phase of affairs, is the question, "Are the business prospects of the country good? Is there a prospect of ultimate recovery?" We answer that, while individuals, and even departments of business have suffered, and may suffer still more, the country generally never had a brighter prospect before it than it has today. In the first place, it should be clearly understood that our business relations with other countries have been the touchstone of our home prosperity for many years past. No fact can be more clearly established than the one that so long as we imported more than we exported, it was impossible to be perfectly safe financially. Not to consider the fact that the sale in Europe of more than $1,000,000,000 of bonds, made us bond slaves to Europe, we have enough for our purpose in the circumstance that overtrading necessitated the exportation of gold to pay balances. It was this that made the premium on gold, and depleted, by at least $50,000,000 a year, our gold supply. This depletion is what did the damage. Our currency is inelastic; and so long as we over-import, so long will it be. We have not a moment's faith in the ability of the Government, so long as all our surplus gold is taken to Europe, and we are compelled to depend on paper currency, to make it both elastic and safe. The two things are antagonisms. What is termed the safety of the currency, is secured by filing bonds with the Government, to the amount of the currency issued, the Government guaranteeing, on this basis, the value or safety of the currency. Hence the bill of a broken national bank is just as good as that of a solvent one. As long as the Government can guarantee the notes of a solvent national bank, it can guarantee the notes of an insolvent national bank. This is a fact of itself. But what is meant by elastic currency? If it means anything, it is that the amount in circulation shall be increased or lessened, as the demands of business may require. The tendency of business in this country is, to demand a gradually increasing supply of currency. Hence, for our currency to be elastic, it must be gradually increased. But the limit of the Government's power to increase the supply of currency is that of its own bonds. As these are limited and decreasing, it follows that there is a limit to elasticity at best, and that if we continue to pay our debts, we have approached that limit already. In other words, the Government cannot give this kind of elasticity.

But while this is true, it is also true that the balance of trade, this year, is clearly in our favor. Last year it was against us about $100,000,000; this year it is with us in a ratio that promises a net amount in our favor of $50,000,000. This country produces an average of $50,000,000 of gold a year. In the past this has been shipped abroad, and with it bonds to the extent of from $50,000,000 to $100,000,000 and even more annually. Stop this, and it follows that, even if our currency is not increased, there will be an accumulation of gold to the extent of $50,000,000 a year. If the balance against us is not only overcome, but turned in our favor, it follows that we may either increase the more rapidly our gold supply, or receive back our bonds, for the balance due us. The latter is, of course, the preferable mode, as thus our bonded debt to Europe would be gradually and smoothly liquidated. We would then have $50,000,000 a year increase in gold, which we judge would meet the increased demand for currency.

The probabilities are that our commercial ascendancy, as compared with Europe, will continue. We regain it, it is true, under exceptional circumstances, but we see no reason why it should not be maintained. In our iron trade, we can fairly compete with England, if no disaster overtakes that branch of industry in this country. This year, the harvests in Europe have generally failed, while ours are exceptionally large. We have already shipped about 9,000,000 bushels of this year's wheat to Europe. Our cotton crop is also large, and much of it will be sent abroad. All this will show a balance of trade in our favor, to the extent of about $50,000,000. Suppose by the improvement of crops in Europe, and from other causes, we do nothing more, for several years, than to maintain an equality of imports and exports, this alone will give us, for use in the country, the gold annually mined, say $50,000,000. Hence we regard the outlook for the future, very inspiring.

The present is where our danger is located. We need to get safely over the emergency that is upon us. It is, without doubt, more grave than has been generally thought. It is likely to bear, with peculiar hardness, on our iron interests. We believe that exceptional measures, to meet the existing emergency, should be adopted. Some gold is coming over from England, but the great need of the country is currency, enough to tide over the emergency, or more properly, to set the wheels of business in motion again. This done, and in a very short time—three months at the farthest—causes now operating in the commercial world will serve to provide all needed relief, and place the country in a condition of permanent prosperity.

DR. BROWN-SEQUARD contributes to the Medical Record (London, August 13,) a valuable paper on some of the curiosities of brain disease. The doctor has seen fifteen cases where drawing on the great toe caused the cessation of what is called epilepsy. General epilepsy may be stopped before the consciousness is complete by drawing on the parts which are convulsed. In like manner in lesions of the brain emotion may have a similar effect, and a paralysis due to organic lesion may disappear at once under emotion, or an act of will—the paralysis being then cured, though the cause remains. It is desired to find something like this in applying treatment. The only thing is an irritation acting on the skin. Doing this, Dr. Brown-Sequard has had an opportunity of recalling a patient to life. After erysipelas of the face there were palsy and insensibility, and probably an abscess of the brain. The patient was cured and remained well long. There was insensibility (coma) two or three times, from which he was roused by the actual cautery applied to the head between the shoulders, the iron having been heated to a white heat and passed lightly over the skin.

IN the Gardner's Magazine is related an interesting incident of a lady gardener who gathered a handful of the world-renowned flower, touch-me-not, and to preserve them as long a period as possible they where put in a large soup plate filled with rain water. The flowers were placed near the window. In a surprising short space of time white thread like roots emitted from the portion of flower stalks in the water, and they ultimately formed a thick net work over the plate. The flowers remained quite fresh, excepting a few of the most advanced, when gathered; as soon as the roots began to run in the water the buds began to expand to take the place of these which faded, and up to November the bouquet—if it may be called—was a dense mass of flowers, and a more beautiful or chaste ornament for the in-door apartment cannot be imagined.

A FARMER for President is the latest suggestion, and a writer, who is quoted by the Sacramento Union, covers the idea in this wise. Among 6,000,000 farmers in the United States, it is impossible to find one who will walk uprightly in the footsteps of the illustrious farmer of Mount Vernon? Such a farmer would do for President to be selected by a free and honest people, just one hundred years after the Declaration of Independence of thirteen British colonies. What say the farmers of the Northwest to this suggestion? Every Southern State would be glad to vote for such a candidate, regardless of all political parties. Lawyers and professional politicians should cheerfully wait a decade for the industrial classes to recuperate and increase their means to pay enormous fees, high duties and unprecedented taxes."

A SOAP STORY.

The Soap Man Warned to Keep Away from Danbury.

Several weeks ago some soap was left at a house on Liberty street, where it gave satisfaction, we learn. Two weeks latter, the lady of the house bought a box of fancy soap of the same manufacture. The cakes were of three colors, yellow, white and pink. She took the box home, and meant to have laid it away, but it caught the eye of her child, some three years old, and so exercised the throat of the youngster, that she was obliged to give up the box and the contents. Subsequently, being engaged in baking, she lost sight of the affair. In the meantime, the child looked over the box, and finding the contents to be unusually attractive, undertook to eat them, but failing in this, used them as blocks for laying out townships, erecting towers, and performing a variety of other engineering feats. Pretty soon it fell to knocking them down with its hand, and then to kicking them around the room with its foot, and when this amusement lost its attractions it suddenly set up a dreadful howl of agony, and started for the kitchen. It was about this time that the man of the house, who had been abed up stairs, came down stairs in pants and shirt, to get some shaving water. When within four steps of the bottom, he stepped on something which immediately disappeared with astonishing celerity, and deposited him on the floor below without the aid of the other steps. He got up on his feet at once, and looked about for the cause of the accident. It was a cake of that soap. He picked it up, and with wonderful presence of mind, hurled it through the glass of the first window. Then he gathered up the shaving cup and brush and went into the room. He went into it just as any man would who had missed four steps in coming down stairs; and lighting on another cake just as he was about to kick the door shut, that leg shot away so violently as to hurt the roof of his mouth, and he came down on one knee, with his head against the bureau. The top of his scalp was somewhat bruised, and one drawer was without its compliment of knobs, and had bitten a piece from the tip of his tongue, although no one would have suspected that last by the flow of conversation that followed as he bounded to his feet. The appearance of his wife, with her face depicting emotions of the liveliest alarm, was welcomed as a providental escapevalve for the wrath boiling within him, but he found his rage turning to astonishment as he saw her suddenly change her motion, and dash toward him with her head down and uttering a hysterical scream. As the instinct of self-preservation is the loudest, he immediately proceeded to move out of the way of his sliding spouse, when he encountered another cake of soap, and was twisted completely around, and hurled headlong against the centre table, and immediately across her line of march. What became of her or the centre table in the crash that followed he cannot tell. He remembers when striking the table of seeing some twenty five new planets, with a pyrotechnic display in the background, and thinks he must have heard a million fire-crackers go off under a barrel. When he came to, he was abed in a dark room, with two persons whispering in a corner, and the air thoroughly impregnated with a flavor of castor oil. If the agent can obtain reasonable board within five minutes walk of the depot and postoffice, he will find it a bargain. At least he should keep away from Danbury.—Danbury News.

JEFFERSON'S POVERTY.

How Monticello was Saved from the Sheriff's Hammer.

Mr. Jefferson's affairs did not mend, though he enjoyed the able and resolute assistance of his grandson and namesake, Thomas Jefferson Randolph; and he resolved, at length, to discharge the worst of his debts, in the fashion of old Virginia, by selling a portion of his lands. But there was nobody to buy. Land sold in the usual way would not bring a third of its value; and consequently he petitioned the Legislature to relax the operation of the law so far as to allow him to dispose of some of his farms by lottery, as when money was to be raised for a public object. The Legislature granted his request, though with reluctance. But, in the meantime, it had been noised abroad, all over the Union, that the author of the Declaration of Independence was about to lose that far-famed Monticello, with which his name had been associated in the public mind for two generations, the abode of his prime and the refuge of his old age, a Mecca to the Republicans of many lands. A feeling arose in all liberal minds that this must not be; and, during the spring of 1826, the last of his years, subscriptions were made for his relief in several places. Philip Hone, Mayor of New York, raised without an effort, as Mr. Randall records, $8,500; Philadelphia sent $5,000, and Baltimore $3,000. The lottery was suspended, and Mr. Jefferson's last days were solaced by the belief that the subscriptions would suffice to free his estate from debt, and secure home and independence to his daughter and her children. He was proud of the liberality of his countrymen, and proud to be its object. He who had refused to accept so much as a loan from the Legislature of his State, glorified in being the recipient of gifts from individuals. "No cent of this," said he, "is wrung from the taxpayer. It is the pure and unsolicited offering of love."—Mr. Parton in the Atlantic.

THE PARDONED MODOCS.

Dissatisfaction with Their Release.

The San Francisco Bulletin is not pleased with the President's pardon of Barncho and Sloluck, whose ground of justification was that they were subordinates, and only obeyed orders. The Bulletin says they are thorough-paced rascals, and adds:

"Barncho and Sloluck are Cumbatoshes, (Rock Indians), and made their home in the Lava Bed prior to the war. They opposed Jack when he tried to secure protracted peace during the cessation of hostilities. They were for war—first, last, and all the time, and were among the adherents of Schonchin when he ridiculed Jack in the cave, at the time of the parley with Steele, and placed a woman's cap on the chieftain's head in token of his disgrace. They favored the massacre of the Commissioners and assisted in the work. They were only the instruments of Jack in that they assumed stations which he assigned them. They were only too anxious for opportunity to shoot at the white Tybees. People who are personally acquainted with the Modocs, and are familiar with the prominent features of the war, will feel anxious to know the real reasons for not executing these two scoundrels in company with Jack, Schonchin, Boston Charley and Black Jim.

The Grave of John Brown.

The reader who has ever visited the grave of John Brown, will remember the great rock under whose shadow the old man rests. We take from the note book of a friend who was there in 1870, the following description of the spot:

Visited John Brown's grave at North Elba, half a mile across the fields from Hammer's Tavern, two miles by the road. His house, unpainted, small, one story and a half, with a small addition behind, is on a cleared plateau of five or eight acres, "Whiteface," in full sight on the north and a fine view for a full semicircle or more, all around to the east and south, of the Adirondack ranges; on the west and south, woods. The chief point about the place is the cleared, level plateau, laid down to grass with scattered stumps now old and growing small; on this the house stands; my companion admires the taste that chose such a spot,—the finest site, he thinks, that we have seen. The grave is in a little enclosure, fifty feet square or so, close by the house, at the northeast; a huge boulder, of a flat rather than high shape (it is about eight feet high), occupies a full third of the enclosure; it seems bedded deep in the earth; steps lead to the top of it, and there, where the side of the rock rises a little from its general slope, one reads these words, cut into the solid stone and facing the east:

JOHN BROWN.

The grave lies at the side of this boulder and has at the head of it a slab—an old one removed from some other place—with an antique inscription to the memory of Captain John Brown, who died in 1776; under this is another one to "John Brown, born 1800, executed at Charlestown, Virginia, December 2, 1859;" other inscriptions to his sons crowd the stone. This little enclosure is in grass, with a rosebush or two; off at the east corner is a small maple. The rugged, massive rock is a fit companion at the grave; it is to be hoped that no other monument will be set up. * * * It comes over one here that this man, more than any other one person, must be thought of as the victim of slavery, and that in him—whether it be true or not that his mind grew disordered—are shown the revulsion and protest of human nature itself at the horrid system.

The nobly simple inscription upon the rock at John Brown's grave was placed there by a citizen of Boston.

Saghalien Island.

The subject of the reported dispute between the governments of Japan and Russia, is a long, narrow island, off the southeast coast of Siberia, separated from the main land by the gulfs of Tartary and Saghalien. It has an estimated area of 47,500 square miles. The northern portion formerly belonged to the Chinese, but has been acquired recently by Russia. The southern end of the island belongs to Japan, and it is geographically one of the Japan islands. The island is mountainous, but little is known of the interior. The other islands on the coast of Asia are rich in mineral deposits, and it is probable that Saghalien Island has the same general formation as those in the same chain.

IN a country school not a thousand miles from this city, a young lady teaches school who tries to interest the children in botany and mineralogy by having them bring to her the result of their gleanings during their Saturday rambles in the woods, when she explains to them the nature of the plant or stone, and tells them the name. This occurs out of school hours. Yet last week one of the committee visited her in school hours and forbade her doing so any more, giving as a reason that it filled the children's heads with nonsense and prevented their studying.—Portland Press.

RUPTURE.

There are hundreds of people ruptured who don't know what ails them; there are others who don't know what to do for it, nor where to seek for relief or a cure; others again who have had rupture for years, under the false notion that there can be no danger in the future, as there has been none in the past. This is a fatal delusion, and there is no knowing what day the rupture may become strangulated, and call for a painful and dangerous surgical operation. To avoid so fearful a result, make application to some competent person to have a truss applied. Will a truss cure me, you may ask. Very often it will, but it will always retain the parts so as to make you secure and safe from danger, and at a cost so trifling as to be hardly worth mentioning when compared with the enormous risk you run in letting it alone. Dr. Keyser, at his office, 167 Liberty street, is provided with every appliance suitable to the retention and cure of this terrible evil. He has trusses at a price as low as can be obtained anywhere in the country, and in every variety and quality—of such vast variety, that the most difficult and long standing cases, of years duration, are made manageable and brought within the province of cure. Let no one deceive themselves into the belief that rupture is never curable; but worst than all, let none consent to "let alone" cure.

Speedily Cured.—All Forms of Venereal, Private and Nervous disease at the old established Girard Medical Institute, No. 172 Second avenue, between Smithfield and Grant streets, Pittsburgh, Pa.
NO CHARGE UNTIL CURED.
Syphilis, Stricture, Orchitis, Hernia and all Urinary diseases are cured in the shortest possible time that will insure permanent relief. Spermatorrhea, or Seminal weakness and Impotency, as the result of self-abuse or excess in maturer years, and which produce some of the following effects, as emissions, blotches, debility, dizziness, nervousness, dimness of sight, cough, indigestion, constipation, despondency, confusion of ideas, aversion to society, loss of memory, and sexual power, and which unfits the victim for business or marriage, and ultimately causing insanity and consumption, are thoroughly and permanently cured. Medicines supplied at the Institute. A medical pamphlet relating to private diseases sent in sealed envelope for two stamps. All communications confidential.
This Institute was established for the express purpose of supplying the afflicted with scientific and reliable treatment, and is not to be classed with the numerous quacks and impostors that infest all large cities. The proprietors have made the treatment of Private and special diseases the study of their lives, and can refer to thousands all over the country that have been benefitted and cured by their treatment. No matter how difficult or long standing your case may be. If curable, after a personal examination they will frankly tell you; remember, they have cured many cases given up by other physicians.
Patients treated by mail or express, but where possible, it is best to visit the city for personal consultation, or address:

Latest Advices Concerning Money and Stock Matters.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE,
MONDAY EVENING, October 20, 1873.

A New York banking firm, in resuming business a few days ago, issued a circular to their customers, in which they speak of the late panic to which they as well as others were compelled to succumb, as a SENSELESS PANIC. This is an apt name for a panic which has no equal in our history for its utter absurdity. It seems as if the whole people had all at once become scared out of their wits and got to doubting everybody and everything. Where is the sense in getting frightened here in Pittsburgh at the failure of a few banks or banking firms in the Eastern cities? Surely our banks are as strong and as solid to-day as they have been at any time; then, why draw out deposits?

As we remarked yesterday, money hoarded away does no one any good, and simply helps to make money more scarce. The private citizen who keeps his money unemployed does a wrong to himself as well as the community. He deprives himself of that interest his money could earn for him and he injures the community by keeping his money out of circulation and assisting to "corner" money. We therefore say that every man who has money he does not need ought to invest it so as to get it in circulation, and do good to himself as well as others. Of course, when we advise those who have money to invest it, we mean, to be sure, that the security given is good. Plenty of good paper, with the endorsement of millionaires, is offered, and often collateral is also offered as security, which makes you as safe as though it was at home in an old stocking.

Our local money market shows but little signs of present improvement, but money is coming more freely from individuals.

In the New York market to-day prices were rather weak, the closing quotations showing a decline in the entire list. It is likely that prices will tend downward for a few days.

Luther S. Kauffman, Banker, No. 96 Fourth Avenue, furnishes the following quotations of bonds and stocks from the latest advices by telegraph:

NEW YORK, October 20, 1873.

Money was easy at 7 to gold on first-class collateral. Miscellaneous collaterals charged a fraction premium, greenbacks ⅛@¼ premium. The receipts of currency were largely in national bank notes, and the stronger banks generally sell greenbacks for customers instead of "pooling" them. Foreign exchange was weak for sixty days at 106@106¼, and strong for sight at 107¾@108. Gold ranged 108⅛@108, closing at 108⅜. Clearings, $20,000,000. Carrying rates 3@7 gold to 1 32. The final rate was 4. Treasury disbursements $119,000. Customs receipts $233,000. Governments were firm and more active. State bonds were quiet. The Treasury Department is contracting legal tenders, having withdrawn $360,000. The day has been quiet and steady, until near the close, when prices declined. Exaggerated rumors in London of a failure on account of Erie speculation caused a depression. Later advices show a failure of a minor character. Trouble was also reported from Philadelphia to the Pennsylvania Railroad, which also proved a canard. Stocks opened firm and advanced ⅛@2½. The advance was lost by one o'clock, and the market finally closed at the lowest prices of the day. Western Union opened at 57, rose to 59⅜, and closed at 56⅛@56⅝. Lake Shore opened at 68, sold up to 69⅛, and closed at 66⅜. New York Central ranged at 89@90⅛@88¾. Rock Island 92@93@90¾. Wabash 44@45@43¼. Pacific Mail 33¾@34⅛@32¼, and Erie 44½@45⅞@45⅛. The remainder of the list was less active.

Condition of the Markets at Home and Abroad.

PITTSBURGH MARKETS—WEEKLY REVIEW.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE,
MONDAY, October 21, 1873.

APPLES—The receipts continue liberal and with stocks steadily accumulating, and holders anxious to realize, prices are weak and barely sustained; quotations may be fairly given at $1,50@2,50 per brl. according to quality. It begins to look, judging from the free arrivals both from the west and the adjoining country, as if the crop was considerably better than had been counted upon.

ALE—Firm but as yet there has been no change, notwithstanding the enhanced cost of barley as compared with former years. We continue to quote X at $8 per brl. to the city, and $9 to the country; XX at $10, and India Ale at $11. Half brls. in regular proportion.

ASHES—The demand continues comparatively light and no improvement need be expected until the window glass factories start up again, of which there does not seem to be much prospect just now. Common Soda Ash, 4¾; Refined do, 5½@6; Nitrate do, 4½@5; Pearls, 11 Pots, 9. Arsenic, 5½; Manganese, 6½; Black Lead, 5; Borax, refined, 25.

BEESWAX—Dull; 30@33c ℔ ℔.

BAGGING—Penn Mill two bushel bags, 35c; two and one-half bushel, 42; three bushel, 50.

BUTTER—The arrivals continue large, and with stocks accumulating, and holders generally more anxious to realize, prices are weak and lower: we reduce our quotations for choice roll to 23@25; medium to good, 18@20; inferior to common, 10@15. Choice butter, until within the past few days, is said to have brought a better price than in almost any other market in this country.

BUCKWHEAT FLOUR—Is coming in more freely, and prices are weak and drooping; may be quoted at 4½@5c ℔ lb.

BROOM CORN—The market is firmer and with an increased demand and reduced supply, prices are tending upward; we now quote at 6@7 for common red; 8@9 good to prime green, and 10@12 for fair to choice hurl. Some holders are reported as considerably excited, and are holding above quotations.

BROOMS—Following are the factory prices: No. 2, $2 per dozen; No. 3, $2,50. No. 4, $3. No. 5, $3.25. No. 6, $3.50. Carpet Brooms, $4. Toy Brooms and Whisps, $1.50@2. In a jobbing way, from store, 25 to 37½c per dozen additional.

BEANS—The arrivals continue liberal, and with an increased supply, the market is perhaps a shade weaker, but prices have undergone no quotable change as yet, ranging from $2,50@3 ℔ bushel.

COPPER—Following are the card rates, cash, as reported by Park & Co.: Braziers' Copper, 13 ℔. sheets and upward, 40c; Braziers' Copper, 10, 11 and 12 ℔. sheets, 43c; Braziers' Copper, 9 ℔. and less, 42c Circles, under 84 in. diameter, 43c. Circles, 84 in diameter and over, 46c. Segment and Pattern Sheets, 43c; Sheathing Copper, 14 in. by 48 in., 38c. Bolt Copper, 40c. Locomotive Fire Box Plates, 40c.

CEMENT AND LIME—Rosendale cement, $4,00@4.50 ℔ barrel; Louisville, $2,50; Cumberland, $2,50. Lime—Cleveland white, Toledo and Fremont, $2 ℔ barrel; Calcined Plaster—best eastern—$4.50; Michigan, $3.50@3.75.

COTTON, SHEETING and YARNS.—Penn Mill A. No. 1,4-4 Sheeting, 12c, Nonatook, 11½c; Pittsburgh Family, 11c. Juniata, B. fine, 10½c; White Carpet Chain fine, 36c Colored, 43c. Cotton Batting, 18; Cotton Twine, 36.

CORDAGE & ROPE—Manilla rope, ¾ inch in diameter and upwards, 18¾ cents, ½, 19c; ¼, and 5-16, 19½c tarred rope and lath yarn, 18c and hay and leather twine, 19. Sisal rope—¾ and 5-16 inch diameter 16½c. ⅜, 17; ½ in and upwards, 17¾; hay and spoke twine, 17. Oil well drilling, cables—hawser laid, 18¾c do. bolt rope and yarn, 20c; Sand pump rope, 18¾.

COAL—Broken egg and stove, Wilkesbare, Anthracite Coal, $7 ℔ ton, by the car load; Nut Anthracite, $6,80.

CARBON OIL—The jobbing trade so far as Pittsburgh is concerned, has been unusually light this year, but our refiners all have as many orders as they can fill for export, hence, prices are fully sustained; we continue to quote standard brands, at 13½@13¾ free on western cars, and 1@2c additional for smaller lots.

CANNED GOODS—There is a fair demand, but while there is no change in prices, the feeling is scarcely as strong as it was a couple of weeks since. Peaches, 3 lb cans, quoted at $3.40@3.50 per dozen; 2 lbs, $2,50; Winslow's Corn, $3; Tomatoes, $2.40.

CHESTNUTS—There is only a limited demand, hence, notwithstanding the receipts as yet have not been as large as expected, prices have declined, and we now quote at $4,50@5 per bushel.

CRANBERRIES—Prime to choice Jersey's $10@12; Carey still quoted at $15@16.

CHEESE—There has been a steady demand during the past week, and notwithstanding the arrivals were larger, prices are fully sustained; we continue to quote August make at 13½@14, and September at 14½@14¾. New York is still quoted firm with a good export demand and Liverpool has advanced to 64s.

CRACKERS—Are quoted as follows: Arrow root, 12½c; Boston, 7c; butter, 7½c; cream, 22c; continental 18c; fruit 12½c; ginger snaps, 13½c; imperials, 18c; London nic nacs, 18½c; novelties, 15c; oyster 7½c; scotch 12c, pic nics, 7c; soda, 7½c; lemon biscuit, 12c; sugar, 10c; water, 7c; N. Y. water, 7c; wine, 9½c ℔ lb.

DRIED FRUIT—There is no movement as yet, and consequently no established quotations. It is almost certain that Peaches will rule considerably higher than last year, as the crop was an unusually light one.

EGGS—The supply during the past week has been large for this season of the year, and somewhat in excess of the demand, hence, the market is weak and prices lower, ranging from 22@23. The impression seems to prevail among dealers, however, that the bottom has been about reached, that prices are not likely to go much if any lower.

FIRE BRICK—West Virginia, $18 to $20. Boliver grades, $35. Star, $35. Woodland, $35. Mount Savage, $65.

FLOUR—Trade has been rather quiet during the past week, the stringency in money matters compelling buyers to cut down their purchases, and then sellers, as a rule, are unwilling to sell unless for cash or to prompt buyers on short time. Dealers are obliged to pay for their flour as soon as shipped, consequently they cannot afford to job it out on a margin of from 12½ to 25 cts. per brl. and wait from two to four months for their money; hence, as we have already stated, they consider flour better property just now than book accounts, and prefer keeping it, to selling to long winded buyers. As compared with last week there has been no quotable change in prices; we continue to quote spring wheat flours at $7.25@7.50, red winter wheat $7.65@8, and fancy St. Louis white wheat, $10@10,50. There is a continued good demand for export, although the export demand is frequently interrupted by the difficulty exporters experience in negotiating exchange. Rye Flour $5.25@5.50.

GRAIN—The receipts and offerings of wheat continue meagre, but the supply is fully up to the demand; and prices remain without quotable change, as compared with this day week, although the tendency, in sympathy with everything else, is downward: we continue to quote at $1.47@1.50 for red; $1.53@1 55 for amber, and $1.58@1.60 for white. The arrivals of Oats are about sufficient to keep up the supply, and with an active demand, prices are firm but unchanged; we continue to quote at 45@48c, according to quality. The receipts of Corn have been increasing somewhat of late, and with a limited demand and increased offerings, prices are weak and lower; we now quote at 60@61 on track, and 62@63 free in elevator. Ear is quotable at 63@68 in bulk, and the demand is mainly for small lots. Rye is quiet and unchanged, ranging from 85@90—the last sale we had reported was at 88. Barley has been and is still in rather better supply, and is offering more freely, and prices are weak and lower in sympathy with the advices from Chicago; No. 2 has dropped about 10c per bushel within the past week.

GROCERIES—Coffee—The Coffee market exhibits a strange position just now, and the trade is at a loss to know what to do. The latest advices from Rio show a small stock, light receipts and an advance of ⅜c per ℔ there. This added to the previous reports makes the advance nearly 4c ℔ ℔ in 30 days, and it now costs 24½c gold to lay down a prime cargo in New York and other ports of entry. In the face of this, the importers had been selling their stock on hand at a loss of 2c ℔ lb. at least until Saturday last when the market advanced ½c ℔ lb, and looked upward. We can account for this disparity between the two markets in no other way than by stating that the short crop in Brazil strengthened the market at Rio, while the financial troubles we are now experiencing depressed it in the United States. The stock in first hands in this country is rapidly accumulating, but the jobbing trade of the west is almost bare of goods, and as soon as a movement begins, which must begin soon, an advance will be felt here commensurate with the high and increasing values at the point of purchase. This, unless our financial troubles become worse, and compels owners to realize at any sacrifice. In that event Coffee and all other goods will decline. We will simply add that the eastern market is strong, and the importing trade confident in the belief that higher prices will rule. Sugar—Refined is firm, and shows no variation in the last week's business. It is thought that the market has touched bottom, in view of the falling off in production, and that a reaction will occur in November. Raws easy. Molasses—New Orleans in light supply here, and firm at our quotations. Syrups weak. Rice—Carolina lower, with a supply of new crop on the market.

In addition to the 22 cars above reported, there were in the neighborhood of 450 head driven in, swelling the whole number on sale to about 900, against 1,250 last Monday; the quality, as usual, was common, not over one-fourth of the entire supply passed for good butcher cattle, and not more than one-tenth, we presume, could be classified prime to extra. As might be expected with this large falling off in the supply the market was more active, especially of the finer grades, of which the supply was scarcely equal to the demand, but common slippery stock, which constituted the great bulk of the offerings, dragged from the opening until the close, and there were several lots of tail ends left over unsold. Prices, so far as we could discern, did not vary much from those of last Monday; there were not as many high priced cattle sold, but it was because the supply of this kind was very limited, not for want of buyers; prime butcher cattle sold quicker and at better rates relatively than the commoner grades. Extra butcher cattle brought from 6¾@6¾, good to prime 5¾@6¼, fair 5@5¾, medium, 4½@4¾. There was but one Chicago stock on sale to day, and these were, we presume, sold at the highest rates, as our best cattle come from that point. Washington and Greene county stock sold at prices ranging from 3¼ to 5¾; Butler county at 3 to 4¾.

Dealers generally conceded that the market was better than it was on last Monday, as it should be with 350 less cattle, and but for the rain, which continued without cessation from the opening until the close, it would have been better still. Butchers are nearly all wanting more cattle now than they did during the warm weather, as there is always an increased consumption of beef at this season of the year, but the indications just now are not favorable to an advance, as cattle, in sympathy with everything else, are tending downward—the natural and legitimate result of a tight money market.

SHEEP AND LAMBS.

There was a very full supply, close on to 1,500, against 1,000 last Monday; market, excepting for the choice grades, opened dull, and dragged all the way through; the best evidence is that some of the best salesmen did not get through until about 2 o'clock P. M., and even then there were some few still remaining in the pens unsold. Prime fat sheep, of which the supply was light, brought full rates, and the same was true of lambs, but the commoner grades were very dull, and in some instances were sold at a decline. Sheep may be quoted in a retail way at 5 to 5½ for prime to extra; 4@4½ for fair to medium; scalawags, and there were a good many of these, $1,00@1,50 per head. Lambs, 3¾@4½c for prime to extra, and $1,00@2,50 for common to medium.

HOGS.

There was an unusually large supply to-day, and there were more in the hands of outside or transient dealers than during any time this fall; this, of course, worked to the detriment of the "regulars," but was all the better for butchers, who succeeded in buying at lower rates than they would otherwise have been able to do. Prices ruled considerably lower than last Monday. Sales were made at prices ranging from 4 to 5c ℔ lb.

PITTSBURGH PETROLEUM MARKET

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE,
MONDAY, October 20, 1873.

The Crude market has undergone no change since the date of our last report; it is still quotable at $1@1,05 per brl. at Parker, equal to about 3¼c per gallon delivered here. There is considerable inquiry for spot or October refined, delivered in Philadelphia, and as the offerings are meagre, the market is quoted firm at 16; futures, however, are weak and lower, and we reduce our quotations to 15¼ for November, and 15¾ for December. There seems to be little or nothing doing in Pittsburgh delivery, and in the absence of sales, we quote nominally at 13½@13¾, delivered free on western cars.

Oil barrels were dull and lower to-day, in consequence of the almost certainty of navigation being resumed at once, in which case there will be largely increased receipts; offered at $2,40, with no buyers. We noted the other day that there were rumors of Gibson having sold largely for next year to be delivered monthly in barges at $2,40; he writes that he has done nothing of the kind, and he certainly ought to know.

RIVER NEWS.

State of the Rivers, Movements of Steamboats, &c.

It has been raining almost without cessation since Saturday evening, and as it seems to be general, an immediate resumption of navigation is almost assured. A dispatch from Oil City yesterday reported that it had been raining during the preceding 48 hours, and that the river was rising rapidly, with three feet. We have nothing as yet from the headwaters of the Monongahela, but there will doubtless be a rise in it also.

The Juniata will commence making engagements this morning for Cincinnati and Louisville; she will also receipt freight and passengers through to all points on the Ohio and Mississippi Rivers. She has been thoroughly overhauled and repaired, and is in tip top condition for business.

The Messenger will also commence business at once. Captain Cox was expected down from Brownsville last night.

The towboats Mary Davage and Rover will probably commence loading for St. Louis forthwith. Captain James W. Batchelor will command the Davage this season.

It is almost certain that there will be water enough to let out coal within the next forty-eight hours.

—Monday's Cincinnati "Gazette" has the following concerning the burning of the Mary E. Poe, in addition to the particulars already published by us: "Part of the cargo of the Mary E. Poe was 75 barrels of oil, which burned, spreading over the surface of the water with a sheet of flame, by which many men were burned after leaving the boat. It is known that Mary Cole, Mrs Motley, John McNally, and two others were drowned. A singular fatality seems to attend the Carter Line boats running in the St. Louis and Red River trade. This makes the eighth steamer lost belonging to the line, and in nearly every case the disaster was attended by the loss of life."...The steamer City of Augusta struck a snag and sank in White River, a short distance below Augusta, Friday night, and lies with three feet of water on her main deck. No lives lost. The vessel will be raised. She belonged to Joseph Elliott, of Memphis. ..The repairs on Fowler, Lee & Co.'s wharfboat and the Quickstep, at Paducah, are about finished, and both will be let into the water the last of this week.. Captain Wash. Honshell, Superintendent, and Captain T. N. Johnson, Secretary of the Cincinnati, Big Sandy and Pomeroy Packet Company, went up the river on the Exchange Saturday night. Mr. Nat. Earhart was a passenger up on the Emma Graham Saturday evening, and will take charge of her office next trip... Pilot Amos Davis, who has been laid up with bilious fever for a week past, resumed his place at the wheel of the Exchange Saturday night...Amos Hays, aged 90 years, died at his residence, 81 Fulton street, Fulton, on Saturday, after a short illness.

—The St. Louis Democrat of Saturday says. It has hardly ceased to rain for the last thirty or forty hours over a large area around St. Louis, perhaps 500 miles. A considerable swell in the rivers is anticipated. The Upper Mississippi has been rising for several days, and the upward movement will probably be much accelerated by the last rains. So of the Illinois and Missouri. The Osage, Gasconade, DesMoines, Cuivre, Salt and other moderate streams are expected to pour out floods for a day or two. On Thursday there was five feet to Keokuk, and there may be seven feet to-morrow. It is not probable, however, that by the coming rise more than seven feet water to Cairo will be afforded. Four parties still load boats for New Orleans, and one for Memphis and Vicksburg. Four steamers and a tow boat with three barges are announced to leave to day for New Orleans and way points, loaded to the water. Rates of freight to New Orleans are 60 cents for flour, and pound freight 30 cents. During the twenty-four hours ending last evening, the river here rose six inches, and it continued rising slowly last night.

—The following is a complete and correct list of the names and tonnage of all the Cumberland River steamboats registered at Nashville: Tyrone, 376 tons; F. P. Gracey, 373 tons; Eddyville, 297 tons; John S. Bransford, 251 tons; Ada Hellman, 134 tons; Ella Hughes, 2 1 tons; Burksville, 139 tons; George S. Kinney, 100 tons. Ajax No 2, 98 tons. Aid No 2, 98 tons. Arch P. Green, 57 tons. total freight capacity, according to Custom House measurment, 2,250 tons.

—Walter writes from Cairo. The channel of the Mississippi has made another change back of Cairo. It comes down now below where Eliza towhead used to be, and touches the Illinois shore where rock was placed to protect the levee five years ago, and coming down the shore makes the old crossing at Greenfield's Landing, which will be a good thing for the Cairo, Arkansas and Texas Railroad.

—The steamer Gate City has been enlarged at a cost of nearly $10,000, and will soon depart from St. Louis for the cotton streams of the South. The repairs of the Red Wing will cost $3,000.

—The pilots' strike on the Upper Mississippi has just been settled by the Keokuk Northern Line securing the services of some fifteen or twenty new men, who are now employed on their boats above the rapids.

HOME NEWS.

Monthlies for November

Again J. W. Pittock's counters groan with their weight of new books covering an extensive range of both light and solid literature, and all the best periodicals. Of these last we have selected for special commendation "The Popular Science Monthly," "Scribner's Illustrated Magazine," "The Atlantic Monthly," "The Galaxy," "Harper's New Monthly," and "Godey's Lady's Book." These are always interesting and instructive reading.

Kirk's Powder House.

Yesterday in the Supreme Court a decision was given in the Kirk powder house case. Mr. Kirk, it will be remembered, built a powder magazine near Sharpsburg, in a secluded valley, but yet not far from the public road. A number of residents in the vicinity objected and took the case to the Court of Common Pleas, where a decision was rendered in his favor. The case finally found its way to the Supreme Court, and yesterday the decree of the lower Court was reversed, thus compelling Mr. Kirk to remove the magazine. This is an interesting case, and has excited a good deal of attention in the vicinity.

Hymeneal.

Among those who have recently entered the ranks, is our young and highly esteemed friend Mr. Josiah Copley Jr., who selected for a life companion Miss Anna Woodward, an accomplished young lady, of Atcheson, Kansas. The groom was formerly a resident of Pittsburgh, connected with the GAZETTE, and while here enjoyed the confidence of a host of friends, who esteemed him as a youth of integrity, genius and culture, an active, enterprising business man, and a gentleman with whom it was a pleasure to mingle in the social circle. For several years past, leaving the home of his childhood, he has fixed his abode in Kansas, where prosperity smiled upon him in some measure proportionate to his merits, and where, judging from this hymeneal circumstance, he proposes to permanently locate. We tender our most cordial congratulations to our young friend and his worthy consort, with the sincere hope that the pleasant good wishes which cheered them on their wedding day may in the future be realized in a measure as large as their hearts could wish and as their merits deserve.

Frolicsome Fellows.

A little family fuss was kicked up last Saturday night at Snyder's saloon on Pius street, South Side, Twenty seventh ward, by a party of miners and mill hands. Officers Geddle and Gerlish, while attempting to arrest the ring leaders, were handled in no girlish style. It appears that about ten o'clock a party of miners from the southern end of the county had assembled in the saloon, and there met an equal number of rolling mill hands. They are said to have been intoxicated, and a general fight followed, which assumed the proportions of a riot at one time. The two city policemen detailed in that ward, sounded the alarm, and with assistance proceeded to quell the disturbance. John Altmier, George Altmier and Geo. Grinn were arrested and taken to the lock up, where they left deposits for their appearance on Sunday morning. They did appear and were fined for disorderly conduct. Officer Herman Geddle lodged an information against them for assault and battery, and they gave bail for a hearing before Deputy Mayor Sellsbury. Officer Charles Gerlish also lodged an information before the same magistrate charging Peter Spiker, John Egle and John Wolff, three of the same party, with having committed an assault upon him and tearing his uniform. Warrants were placed in the hands of officers, who were dispatched after the defendants yesterday morning.

The Late Oregon Wilson.

We published some days ago a sketch of the life and professional character of Mr. Oregon Wilson, whose death at Santa Barbara and interment on the 11th inst. in our Allegheny cemetery, we also mentioned.

We find very glowing notices of Mr. Wilson, of his genial and social qualities, of his skill and promise as an artist, and of his warm place in many hearts in many places, in the Cincinnati Enquirer and Post and other western papers. From among these, as coming from his new home on the Pacific coast, and in order that his many friends in this, his native city, may see that he was appreciated there, as well as in New York, Cincinnati and wherever else he was known, we print the following merited tribute:

From the Daily Alta—Californian of the 24 of October:

OREGON WILSON, ARTIST.

When a man of genius dies, the world is a loser; when that genius is young, just beginning to give good indications of the intellect, taste and culture that are within him, and giving assurances of a future, worthy and useful, a pleasure and satisfaction to himself, and a benefit and honor to his country, the loss is still more to be regretted. This is the case in regard to the young artist, Oregon Wilson, whose untimely death occurred last Saturday, at Santa Barbara. He was certainly an artist of much promise? Thousands of our citizens have seen and admired many of his paintings, which have been on exhibition in the windows of some of the picture dealers of this city for some time past. He had prepared himself by study and by travel, by observation and work abroad, as well as in his native country, for a life of usefulness and honor to himself, and of credit to his native land. His paintings always found ready sale, for there was, and is, in them, characteristics of the true artist, indications of genius, expressions of great insight into the very spirit and life of the profession to which he had devoted his life.

It was a sad loss to his country, to his friends and to art, when his young and promising life was so suddenly cut short in its very morning.

PANIC AT A BALL.

A Fire Nips It in the Bud.

This morning at three o'clock an alarm was struck from box 2, indicating a fire near the Point. The department was on hand promptly. It was occasioned by a fire having broken out in the basement of the notion store of A. S. Johnston & Co., No. 66 Wood street. The smoke entered Lafayette Hall, where a German ball was in progress, and immediately a panic ensued. Women and men scampered down stairs and the musicians threw their instruments out of the window and carried their empty boxes down stairs. The fire was undoubtedly the work of an incendiary, but fortunately was extinguished with a damage of only about $500, mostly by water.

AN OIL EXPLOSION.

Destructive Fire this Morning—$10,000 Worth of Lumber Consumed.

At ten minutes to twelve o'clock last night an alarm of fire was struck from box 64, corner of Penn and Twenty eighth streets. The alarm was occasioned by the explosion of a still at Wormser, Myers & Co's Oil Refinery, corner of Thirty first and Railroad streets. The still exploded with a terrific crash, sending a flame into the air a distance of fully forty feet. A portion of the demolished tank with all its force and fury dashed through the brick wall and set the lumber yard of Wm. Brown in a blaze. The oil had given the lumber a good start and by the time the firemen arrived, a fire presented itself that was very hard to combat, and very extensive, covering the area of nearly the entire lumber yard. The firemen worked with a will and finally got the fire under control, and at two o'clock this morning it was nearly all out. Officer Slater states that the box was out of order and it was very hard for him to strike the alarm. The lumber yard is owned by William Brown, who had on hand a full stock of seasoned pine lumber valued at $25,600. His loss will be about $10,000, insured for $3,600 in Cincinnati Companies. The loss of Wormser, Myers & Co. will foot up about $500 on oil and tank. During the fire and while the flames were leaping their wildest, a party shut off the water from a private plug, which was being used by the firemen, and ordered them to take off their hose. When asked why he acted so mean to a neighbor, by an officer, he got very excited, and a little side show was threatened, but he finally subsided through the kindly offices of a police lieutenant.

A JUDGE OUSTED.

The Case of Judge Potts of Cambria County—He is Declared an Illegal Occupant of the Judicial Bench.

Yesterday morning the Supreme Court gave a decision in the case of Judge James Potts of Cambria county. This is the case argued a few days ago by Deputy Attorney General Gilbert for the Commonwealth, and Hon. John Scott and Hon. Henry D. Foster for the respondent. Our readers will remember that a writ of quo warranto was issued commanding Judge Potts to show by what authority he held the office of President Judge of the Court in Cambria county, sitting at Johnstown, the office being created by a special act of the Legislature, which it was claimed was unconstitutional.

Judge Agnew delivered the opinion, and in this nutshell stated the case: "The whole law evidences that it was not the intention of the Legislature to create a new court, wholly independent of the judicial organization already existing in the county of Cambria. The purpose, though a very mistaken one, was to add to the existing judicial organization, another for a portion of the county, composed of the same judges and officers, which should occupy an auxiliary and subordinate position."

The court therefore held that though Judge Potts claimed he was elected in 1871, the election was not proper, inasmuch as he could not be selected to fill the office which was held by the Judges of the court then existing in Cambria county, and no Judge but one subordinate to them could be elected. The court therefore decreed:

"And now, October 20th, 1873, this cause having been duly heard and considered by the Court, it is ordered that the judgment of ouster be rendered for the Commonwealth and against the defendant, and it is hereby considered and adjudged that James Potts, the respondent, unlawfully holds and exercises the office of President Judge of Cambria county, and he is hereby excluded and ousted therefrom, and it is further adjudged that the Commonwealth do receive her lawful costs from the said James Potts."

THE RECENT ELECTION.

An Analysis of the Result in Pittsburgh, Allegheny City and Allegheny County—Some Curious Features in the Vote—The Official Returns.

The election this year embodied, particularly in this county, such a mixture of political persuasions, and such a variety of tickets, that even in the report of the official figures, no two papers were precisely alike. We give the finally corrected returns this morning, which may be accepted as absolutely reliable. They show some very curious features in the vote, that are worthy of passing remark. In the first place, the vote of Gordon, for Supreme Judge, in the county, exceeds Mackey's by 225, a very unexpected circumstance, but explainable, probably, by the fact that Gordon's name was placed on the Independent Labor ticket. The same circumstance will explain the fact that Hutchinson received, in the county, 522 votes more than did Ludlow. As compared with last year, the strength and distribution of the vote in this county is somewhat remarkable. Last year, the total vote, on the Governorship was 42,261. This year the vote on President Judge, which represents the largest vote, was 21,137—as nearly as may be, one half the aggregate vote of last year. On this vote Hartranft had a majority, last year, of 9,281. For the majorities this year to have compared fully with that of Hartranft last year, they should have footed up 4,640. Gordon's majority, being 4,168, only falls below the average 472. Mr. Mackey falls below this average 1,219 votes. When we remember that in off-years the loss of interest in voting is quite unevenly distributed, it may be seen that Gordon really received the full vote of his party, and certainly as large a majority as could reasonably be expected.

In Pittsburgh, Mackey had 6,463 votes, as against 3,814 for Hutchinson—a majority of 2,649; Gordon had in the city 5,874, and Ludlow 4,748—a majority of 1,126. In Allegheny City, Mackey had 1,985 and Hutchinson 1,919—a majority for Mackey of 66; Gordon had 2,662, and Ludlow 1,837—majority for Gordon, 225. In the outside districts, Mackey's vote was 3,564, and Hutchinson's 2,858, being a majority for Mackey of 706; Gordon had 4,301, and Ludlow 1,484—a majority for Gordon of 2,817.

THE PHILADELPHIA VOTE.

As we have the totals from Philadelphia, we may also notice the comparisons there. The total vote of Philadelphia last year was 118,119; of which Hartranft received a majority of 20,437. The vote this year was 93,943, or about twenty per cent. less than the vote of last year. On this vote Mr. Mackey received a majority of 24,176—being 3,739 more than Hartranft received; while Gordon received 8,926 more than Ludlow. These figures serve to show the inequalities of the vote cast; and illustrate one of the peculiarities of voting in "off years."

AMUSEMENTS.

PITTSBURGH OPERA HOUSE.—The inclemency of the weather worked hard against Mr. Thompson last evening, but despite the storm the house was fairly filled. Mr. Thompson appeared as "Hans" in "Mollie Darling," and as "Dixie" in a play of that name. They are both of the sensational sort, but very good of their kind. Mr. T. did his several specialties in his accustomed style, and his characters were done well. The company in support did very well, and especially was this noticeable of Messrs. Holmes, Crompton, Price, Irving, Stockwell, Collings, Lang, Fisher, and Miss Katie Baker, Emmie Wilmot, and Mrs. Baker. The same bill this evening. Box office open all day.

LIBRARY HALL.—It must have been very gratifying to the management, and extremely pleasing to Mr. John E. Owens, that he could draw, on an inclement evening, as last night was, such an audience as gathered within the precincts of Library Hall. It would be considered very large for a pleasant night, but it was a worthy reception of a deserving artist last evening. The audience was large and fashionable, and the auditorium was nearly filled. Mr. Owens appeared in two of his greatest specialties, "Joshua Butterby" and "Solon Shingle." Everybody knows what Tom Taylor's comedy of the "Victims" is, and Mr. Owens' excellent acting last evening made it all the more interesting and pleasing. He has brought with him a company of ability, and they gave him effective support. They are all well up in their lines and no prompting is needed, hence the performance passed off remarkably smooth. The members are all of acknowledged professional reputation, and include Messrs. Augustus Pitou, C. H. Rynar, Charles Norris, Thompson, McKinney and others. Mr. Owens' "Solon Shingle," of course, was as rich and elegant as usual, with its sparkling fun. Mr. Owens was honored with several calls before the curtains during the evening. This evening he will appear in "Everybody's Friend" and "Forty Winks." Seats can be had during the day at Hale's Music Store on Smithfield street.

ACADEMY OF MUSIC.—This house is closed this week, but Mr. V. E. Beamer is making extensive preparations for the production of the "Talisman" next week, a grand spectacle, which will have the adjuncts of good scenery and a first class company.

THE HILL TRAGEDY.

Resuming the Coroner's Inquest—What Was Testified to—The Mystery Unraveling—The Probable Murderers in Custody.

The great interest manifested in the Brauenlein murder was clearly shown yesterday when the Coroner proceeded to hold the inquest. His office was too small to hold the crowd, and the inquest was continued in the Grand Jury room in the Court House. The jury were in one room and the witnesses in another. Each witness was examined separately, so none knew what the other had testified to. The first witness produced was Mary Schaffer, but her testimony had no bearing, materially, in unraveling the mystery. She stated that she heard that the deceased had lots of silverware which she brought from Germany, but outside of that she knew nothing. Soline Tomer, a neighbor of deceased, also testified, and her evidence revealed nothing material to the case. Mrs. Catherine Dollman testified to having known deceased for nine years; she stated that between eight and nine o'clock Saturday I went to Mrs. Brauenlein's and looked through the keyhole; saw the stove upset; Mrs. Scheuttler said that Friday morning she heard a noise there; then I saw Mr. Zweck, and he said she ought to have gone to the Poor House long ago; if anything was wrong with her it would give his house a bad name; that she was a trouble; he then went and got a handful of keys; he went up stairs and tried a good many keys, and one of them opened the door; we went into the room, and I did not see her until we came to the bed; I saw her foot sticking out with a slipper on; I lifted her a little and and I said she is dead and we can do no more; I then went for Mr. Williams; Mr. Zweck didn't try the door until he got the keys; I guess he tried about three or four keys before he opened the door; he was kind of mad and said:

"NOW SEE THE TROUBLE I HAVE HERE,"

people will just talk, and nobody will move in here; Mrs. Scheuttler asked what was the matter, and I told her Mrs. Brauenlein was dead, and she made no answer; she was alone with her two little girls; Mr. Zweck did not seem to be excited, only cross because he had so much trouble with the old woman.

She also testified as to a dog that was kept by the Scheuttlers, but it was unimportant. She then went on to state that Mr. Zweck didn't go in at all, and the man with him only went in a few steps; have seen Mrs. Brauenlein's hatchet many times; it had a long handle; I think I would know it if I should see it (hatchet shown witness); I guess that is her hatchet; never saw a shorter handled one there; I noticed that the blue and white covers that used to be on the bed were not there; the trunks were all open and things were scattered around; sometimes when I went there the trunks would be opened, but I never saw things scattered around a quarter as bad as on Saturday. She wore a black cap, but never noticed anything else around her head.

John George Freeberger stated that he was a butcher; that the deceased was in his shop on Thursday morning last; I was never in her room; my daughter takes milk there every other day; have been furnishing her with milk about four years; we give her the milk; my girl didn't tell me anything, but told my older girl; I didn't know anything about it until Mrs. Dollman told me on Saturday that she was dead; never visited Mr. Schuettler or Mr. Zweck; Mrs. Brauenlein never told me she had any money; she gave my wife some money to keep about eight years ago; she got it back as she needed it; it was about $250; She drew it all out about three years ago.

A WITNESS RECALLED.

Mrs. Dollman, recalled—Q—Did you ever see that hatchet? (other hatchet found in the room shown witness.)

A—No, sir.
Q—Are you sure?
A—Yes, sir.

The next witness was R. M. Spohn. He testified:

Reside in Hill alley, Thirteenth ward; am a brickmaker; have seen Mrs. Brauenlein passing up and down the street; have known her about four and a half years; on Friday morning last, about 5 o'clock, I was passing Mr. Scheuttler's house, and saw a woman sitting in a night dress and red flannel petticoat, with a boy straightening out currency; they were sitting on a stone wall at the alley, and that is the first time I ever saw them there; she was sitting

IN A NIGHT DRESS AND FLANNEL PETTICOAT.

They didn't seem to be excited; I think there was a light in the lower part of the house; have passed down there every morning for a number of years; it looked to me like a handful of currency as though it been squeezed together; there was also a black pocketbook in her lap; I passed near enough so that I could have touched them.

Margaret Mosier a daughter of Mr. Scheuttler was sworn but her testimony elicited nothing. William Taylor a carpenter who has worked for Mr. Zweck was examined. His testimony elicited nothing of material interest except that he had seen Mrs. Brauenlein a number of times; she came in there one day and she and Mr. Zweck talked pretty loud about money. Have noticed a dog at Mr. Scheuttler's chained there; when I saw Mr. Zweck that night he was coming from the direction of Scheuttler's House.

Thomas Young, Lizzie Decker and Julia Freeberger were sworn, but they only went over the same statements as previously reported. Mrs. Freeberger corroborated her husband's testimony. Lizzie Scheuttler, wife of John, was examined, but her statement, which was rather conflicting, developed nothing. Her husband also testified, but his evidence revealed nothing. Frank and Gottfried Scheuttler were examined, but their evidence gave no new light. John was recalled and testified—Never noticed that Mr. and Mrs. Brauenlein had a watch; never heard that they had one; watch shown witness; that is my wife's watch; she bought it of a man and gave it to me about two months ago; there were two trunks in Mrs. Brauenlein's room, but don't know what kind of locks were on them. (Key shown witness). Think it belongs to my brother. (Another key witness identified as his shop key. Red flannel petticoat shown witness and identified as belonging to his wife. Shirt also shown witness, but he was unable to identify it; dress waist also shown witness, which he identified as belonging to his wife. Padlock shown witness, which he did not recognize); when I went away Friday morning, my wife was up, and I talked with her.

THE MYSTERY UNRAVELING.

Dr. J. S. Thorne recalled—I have examined the clothes and find blood on the shirt and waist; and an attempt has been made to wash it off; I cannot say whether it is animal or human blood.

Mr. Spohn recalled—Those are the clothes Mrs. Scheuttler had on the Friday morning that I saw her counting the money.

Samuel Long, sworn.—Am a detective; this morning went over to Mount Washington and made a search of the house of John Scheuttler; in the privy of the house we found the waist and the padlock; in a drawer in the house we found two keys; one fits the cellar, and Detective Scott has gone to see if the other one will fit the room where Mrs. Brauenlein was found dead; the other articles were found among some dirty clothes up stairs in Scheuttler's house on Mount Washington.

This concluded the testimony. This morning the inquest will be resumed at eleven o'clock in the Grand Jury room in the Court House.

STILL ANOTHER ARREST.

Zweck, the landlord of the Clay alley premises, was discharged from custody yesterday, but last evening, by instructions of the Coroner, George Scheuttler, a little boy, aged ten years, was arrested as a party who has some knowledge of the fearful crime. The little fellow, as a witness stated, was seen with his sister-in-law on Friday morning sitting on the wall counting the currency. The little fellow made himself mighty scarce since the tragedy. He left home after the murder was discovered on Saturday and was not seen till yesterday. The Coroner put him through a strict examination but he denied all knowledge, and went so far as to say, "Honestly, I wasn't with aunt Lizzie counting the money on the wall; I don't know anything about it; really I don't, and it 'ain't any use of asking me about this thing." The boy bears a bad reputation among his companions, but he has a very intelligent look, and is apparently honest in his statements.

STILL MORE CIRCUMSTANTIAL EVIDENCE.

Last evening detective Scott went to the house and took the door key that was found in John Scheuttler's house on Mount Washington, with him. It is an iron key and looks bright, as if it had constantly been carried in the pocket. The officer tried it in the door and it locked it and unlocked it easily, showing conclusively that it was the key that had been carried off. The jacket belonging to a woman found in the privy, also shows that the blood upon it, is spotted in such a way as would be natural if the body was dragged to the bed and the sleeves and body rubbed against the wounds of the murdered party. The padlock found seems to belong to nothing there, but why was it deposited in the privy vault? The detectives expect to develop enough to-day to fasten the guilt upon parties now in custody.

Last evening, about nine o'clock, officers Peuder and Wilmot made another arrest, the prisoner being old Mrs. Schuettler, who was brought to the lock-up and furnished with a separate cell. She was quite reticent, but protested against being incarcerated.

THE NEWSBOYS' SCHOOL.

A Hitch in the Arrangements.

The school for the newsboys and bootblacks was not opened yesterday morning. About twenty-five of the boys were on hand at the appointed hour, ten o'clock, and the appointed place, the Grant school house, but they were not admitted to the school room. Superintendent Luckey was present and announced to the boys that books had been procured and everything was in readiness except the room. When that was ready notice would be given. The boys seemed eager to attend, and promised to be on hand when called upon again.

It seems there is a little hitch in the arrangements in reference to the room. The Local Board, when appealed to at their last meeting, unconditionally granted the use of a room in their building, and it was arranged that the school should take up at ten o'clock and dismiss at half-past one—these hours being most convenient for the newsboys. Subsequently, however, at an informal conference between Superintendent Luckey and a member of the Board, it was agreed that the school should be presided over for a month at least by a pupil from the Normal School, and that afterward a teacher should be appointed by the Local Board. Superintendent Luckey reported the matter of the proposed school to the Central Board, and that body endorsed the idea but concluded to select the teacher itself. Thus when the boys came together yesterday morning, there was no room for them. The member of the Local Board, who claims the agreement with Superintendent Luckey, was on hand and refused to allow the room to be opened until this agreement (giving the Local Board authority to elect the teacher) was ratified. There was no official action taken by the Local Board, further than giving an unconditional use of the room, and this new phase brings the matter up in the shape of a triangular fight between the Central Board, Superintendent Luckey and a member of the Local Board. It is to be hoped that the dispute will soon be amicably arranged, and the school inaugurated.

PRESBYTERIAN.

Synod of Pittsburgh—The Case of Rev. Wm. M. White—A Resume of the Points—The Synod Hears the Papers Read—Considering the Case—Reports from the Church Generally—The Second Days Proceedings.

The Synod of Pittsburgh resumed its session yesterday morning in the East Liberty Presbyterian church, at nine o'clock and was opened with prayer by the moderator.

Statistical reports from Presbyteries were received and filed. From all reports it appeared that the church was prospering.

The Judicial Committee now desired to read their report in

THE CASE OF REV. WM. M. WHITE, who was suspended by the Washington Presbytery on charges of seduction and fornication.

Our readers will remember this case to which, at the time brief reference was made. Mr. White was stationed over the Mills Creek Presbyterian church about three years ago, and while there, being a young, unmarried man, he boarded with an aged couple who lived alone until his coming. After he had been there a short time a young niece of his host made a visit to her relatives which ended in her staying with them. The young minister and the girl were thrown into each others society, and the result was considerable gossip. Suddenly Mr. White removed to another charge and the gossip was intensified; so much so that he came back to his old parish and procured from the young girl a written statement to the effect that their intercourse had not transcended the bounds of propriety. Matters settled down after this for a short time, but eventually the girl brought charges against him before the Washington Presbytery, and he was suspended. The case was next taken to the civil courts and twice tried—the jury disagreeing the first time, and the prosecutrix not appearing in the second—she having removed to Illinois—he was discharged.

Mr. White then appealed to his Presbytery for the re-opening of the case, upon the ground that he had new evidence. His request was refused; he appealed to the General Assembly, and from this the case was referred back to the Synod of Pittsburgh.

Mr. White desires some official recognition from the Church authorities, and will then transfer his case to another Presbytery to have it decided upon. He is wanted as pastor by the congregation at Long's Mills, just across the river from the scene of his labors as pastor at Mills Creek. The Long Mills congregation have been waiting upon him for three years and are ready to take him at any time.

The matter thus came

about ten o'clock. There was a goodly attendance of spectators in the church when the case was called, and the synodical delegates were present in force. Mr. White was present, occupying a front pew to the right of the President's desk, and paid the utmost attention to the proceedings, displaying a nervousness that exhibited the intense feeling with which he regarded the business in hand. He was very neatly arrayed in a black broadcloth suit. In appearance he is rather handsome, having an intellectual, energetic expression of countenance. His side whiskers, in the Burnside style, evidently command a good share of his attention. They are jet black as is also his hair.

The question yesterday morning came up as to the propriety of receiving the report of the Judicial Committee.

Dr. McKinney appeared for Mr. White and stated that they did not ask Synod to restore him but to hear a report on the case.

A lengthy discussion ensued.

Rev. Mr. Graham, on the part of the Presbytery, said the Synod should first consider the appeal and complaint from Mr. White. The question of his restoration could come up again.

Several members suggested the propriety of reading all the papers in the case, in order that full information upon it could be had.

After considerable discussion, upon points of law, as to the propriety of hearing the report, a motion finally prevailed to hear the report from the Judicial Committee, with the accompanying papers.

Synod then

SETTLED ITSELF FOR AN HOUR,

while the papers were read,—which were as follows:

The minutes of the Presbytery of Washington, on the petition of Rev. Mr. White for transfer to the Presbytery of Pittsburgh, were then read. The minutes showed that the Presbytery refused to dismiss Mr. White on account of his having been tried and suspended.

The appeal to the General Assembly, sitting at Baltimore, signed by Mr. White and the complaint of Dr. McKinney, Richard Lea, and others to the refusal of the Presbytery to discharge Mr. White, were also read. Dr. McKinney, in his complaint, says Mr. White is only under suspension, and has the right to be transferred.

The answer of the Presbytery of Washington to the appeal and complaint was also read. The answer gave a detailed statement of the facts of the case, under which Mr. White was tried, convicted and suspended; the reopening of the case and the second trial and conviction of the accused for seduction and fornication. He was again sentenced to suspension, and thus the case stood until last April, when Mr. White, having withdrawn his appeal from the General Assembly, he presented a request to the Presbytery of Washington to be transferred from that Presbytery to the Presbytery of Pittsburgh. The motive for the change, the paper said, was because the votes for acquittal on the trial of the case came from the members of the Pittsburgh Presbytery, and more likely because Mr. White desired to be released from the sentence in order to secure the pastorate of a church at Steubenville. This action had been taken but a few weeks after the Synod had solemnly sentenced him for high crimes and immorality, and the Presbytery thought it wrong to allow the transfer of Mr. White, for the reason that the Presbytery of Pittsburgh would likely release him speedily from the ministry and restore him to full communion. The answer then went on to assign a great many reasons why the petition should be refused and the suspension of Mr. White allowed to continue a while longer.

THE CASE TEMPORARILY DROPPED.

Upon the conclusion of the reading of the papers, the Moderator announced that the time had arrived for the orders of the day, viz.: Devotional Exercises.

Dr. George P. Hays moved that the hour designed for Devotional Exercises be spent hearing the address of A. C. McClelland, of the Freedmen's Bureau, W. P. Breed, D. D., of Philadelphia, of the Board of Publication, and Dr. Dickson, also of Philadelphia. Agreed to.

THE FREEDMEN.

Mr. McClelland was then introduced, and gave a detailed statement of operations among the Freedmen in the south. He said there were at the present time in the south 108 churches, 5709 sabbath schools, 3504 parochial schools and 124 missionaries, many of whom were colored people He regretted that the contributions to the cause were not in proportion to its importance and hoped that there would be more earnestness and liberality in this direction.

THE PUBLICATION INTERESTS.

Rev. Dr. W. P. Breed, of Philadelphia, was the next speaker, and made an address in reference to the publication interests. He recited numerous instances showing the great good that was being accomplished through the colportage system, and urged increased liberality in contributions in this direction. He considered it equal in importance to any other work of the church and hoped it would be generously sustained.

MINISTERIAL SUPPORT.

Dr. P. X. Junkin, from the Synod of Erie, was next granted the floor, and made a speech in behalf of disabled ministers. He held that a minister should be sustained from the time of his ordination until his death, and not turned out when his hair becomes white, like the old and worn out horse—to die. He had made the scheme for support of superannuated ministers a life study, and would never rest until it received a cordial and a hearty support from all the churches. He detailed its benefits at length and strongly urged its great importance.

The Synod then took a recess for dinner.

The case of Mr. White came up at the afternoon session and was argued at great length, but no decision was reached.

Preparations for the Great Drawing on 3d December.

The tags, numbered from 1 to 60,000, representing the tickets in the mammoth scheme of the fourth gift concert of the Public Library of Kentucky, were, under contract, delivered to Gov. Bramlettee yesterday. This is the warning note which all would do well to heed. As these tags are drawn from the big wheel on the 3d of December next, some ticket holder will be made richer by $250,000. Somebody will feel jolly over $100,000 and $50,000 added to his cash capital will make some happy man comfortable for life. Every one of the minor gifts—$25,000, $20,000, $10,000, $5,000, &c.—would be a very handsome return for an investment of $50.

OIL NEWS.

New Strikes Near Modoc.

There was a strike on Saturday on the James Sutton farm, Modoc, which is flowing at the rate of 300 barrels per day. The contractor on this well, who owned a quarter interest in it, after getting down to a depth of 1,530 feet, got discouraged and declared he would drill no further. He telegraphed for Mr. Selden to come on at once, and when he arrived, the contractor told him of his determination, declaring that the well ought to be abandoned. Before the arrival of Mr. Selden he had offered to sell out his interest for $2,000, but when his offer was accepted, he concluded to await Mr. Selden's arrival. The latter gentleman told the contractor that he must put the well down to the depth contracted for—1,560 feet. Drilling was resumed, and after a few hours' work the well commenced to flow at the rate mentioned above. The contractor is highly delighted that he did not accept the offer of $2,000 for his quarter, and that the well was not abandoned when he became discouraged.

Three wells were struck on the Harper farm during the past week, and they average more than four hundred barrels each, daily. These wells are the Blackhawk, owned by Vandergrift & Co., which is flowing 500; the Frank Wright well, owned by Frank Wright, which is flowing about 400; and the Shaw well, owned by Shaw & Co., which is flowing nearly 500.

BREVITIES.

····It wasn't pleasant yesterday.

····Cresson has been visited with a snow storm.

····Yesterday, first snow of the season. It wasn't much, though—not enough to make sleighing.

····About $2,600 will pay the election expenses of last Tuesday in Allegheny county, of which over $2,300 have been paid already.

····Last evening Smithfield street and Fifth avenue looked comparatively deserted, and places of amusement suffered in consequence.

····Hugh Martin was held to bail yesterday by Mayor Blackmore on a charge of selling liquor on Sunday, preferred by Dennis Pullylle.

····There was a land slide yesterday above the new school house on Buena Vista street, which is being opened in the Second ward, Allegheny city.

····Charles H. Day, Esq., General Agent of the Sharpley, Sheridan and Mack Combination, announces that the company is en route for Pittsburgh, and that due notice will be given of its appearance.

····Coroner West yesterday held an inquest on the body of Mr. James Simpson, who was killed on Sunday night in the yard of the Fort Wayne Allegheny outer depot. A verdict of accidental death was rendered.

····John Mulhauser, a repairman on the Pan Handle railroad, was badly injured on Sunday evening, near Bulger station, by being struck by a locomotive. He was brought to Pittsburgh and taken to the West Penn Hospital.

····The sale of reserved seats for the Library Lectures commenced on yesterday morning. Nearly all the seats in the parquett were sold. The regular season tickets are going off well also, showing that the lecture season, notwithstanding the financial stringency, is to be a success, in a monetary way at least.

····A hearing was had yesterday before the Mayor in the case of Stephen Timmons who was charged with committing a rape on his little daughter. The accused was honorably discharged there being no evidence whatever to sustain the allegations of his wife made when she preferred the charge against him.

····Galloway, one of the men who was seriously injured near the Northwest Coal Mines on the West Penn Road on Tuesday evening last, and who had one of his legs crushed, and who, we were informed, had since died, we are happy to say he is still alive, and bids fair to recover. His limb has been amputated, and Dr. Crawford, of Saltsburg, is attending him.

····One evening last week a stranger stopped at a boarding house in Sewickley and engaged lodging for the night. The next morning he settled his bill and turned his face and footsteps toward the setting sun, taking with him a silver watch, two shirts, a small amount of change and a number of other articles of value belonging to the regular boarders. The money with which he paid his score was part of the sum he stole.

····Mr. J. H. Lindsay, of Messrs. Lindsay & McCutcheon, yesterday made an information before Alderman McMasters, charging Charles Bach, an Allegheny junk dealer, with receiving stolen goods. Mr. Lindsay alleges that they have missed sundry brass and other castings, and that they were found on the defendant's premises. Bach was arrested, and, after a hearing, committed for trial.

····Yesterday afternoon Mrs. Adelaide Ellsberry appeared before Alderman McMaster, and preferred a charge of felonious assault and battery against her husband, Josiah Ellsberry. She alleges that he attacked her and flourished a razor over her head threatening to cut her in two, to which same she had a decided objection. The parties are colored. The accommodating 'Squire issued a warrant.

····Chas. Jansen is missing. He left his home at Houtsdale, Pa., on the 7th inst. for this city to obtain work. He is a blacksmith. When leaving home he told his wife that he would stop at King's hotel on Liberty street. Nothing has been heard of him since. Mrs. Maria Janson and her three children are now in Pittsburgh looking for him. She is in very destitute circumstances. Mr. King states that Janson never stopped at his house, and that he does not know any one of that name.

····Sigismund Loew, Esq., the engineer who was engaged on the first survey made for the Connellsville Railroad, has, it is said made an examination of the old surveys and finds that the line of the railroad does not encroach upon Second avenue. When the road was first laid out, that portion about which there is now a dispute was in Pitt and Peebles townships, and from maps and surveys in his possession, Mr. Loew proposes to demonstrate, that the railroad line does not encroach upon the old road.

····Yesterday morning Mr. Robert Ray, through his attorney, M. W. Acheson, Esq., filed an answer to the bill in equity against him from Mrs. Bella Oxley, administratrix of J. B. Oxley, deceased. It will be remembered that Mr. Ray was employed by Mr. Oxley as his agent to collect delinquent taxes of the Third ward, Allegheny, for the years 1870 and 1871, and that the plaintiff alleges he failed to account for some thirteen thousand dollars. The defendant claims that what he collected he paid over to Joseph B. Oxley, except the sum of $1,611.43, of which he retained $973.40 as his compensation. He claims that he accounted for and actually paid in $13,332.06, and that the estate of decedent has now a balance against him of $38.03, which he is ready to pay.

PERSONAL.

Our young friend, Mr. Will H. Fedder, of this city, has just returned from a wedding tour East. Mr. Fedder had the good fortune to have been united to Miss Jennie L. Hard, daughter of P. C. Hard, Esq., of Wadsworth, Medina County, O. He looks, in his newly married state, as bright and happy as can be, and it is the wish of his many friends that wedded bliss may prove to him the realization of all happiness.

A DISABLING DISEASE.

No disease which does not confine a man to his bed so completely unfits him for business as dyspepsia. When the stomach is foul, the brain is always muddy and confused, and as the cares and anxieties of life are a sufficient burden for the organ of thought to bear, without being tormented by the miseries born of indigestion, it is highly desirable for the brain's sake, as well as for the sake of every other portion of the system, that the disordered stomach should be restored with the utmost dispatch to a healthy, vigorous condition. This object can always be accomplished by a course of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, the purest and best of vegetable specifics, which evacuates the morbid humors through the bowels, rouses and tones the torpid stomach and regulates the liver, imparts firmness to the nerves and clears the sensorium of its mental cobwebs. Persons subject to attacks of indigestion, bilious headache, irregularity of the bowels, sickness at the stomach or "the blues," should take the Bitters once or twice a day throughout the present season.

NEW BOOKS.

THE LAND OF MOAB: Travels and Discoveries on the East Side of the Dead Sea and the Jordan. By H. B. Tristram, M.A., LL.D., F.R.S., Hon. Canon, of Durham; with a chapter on the Persian Palace of Mashita, by James Ferguson, F.R.S.; with maps and illustrations by C. L. Bixton and R. C. Johnson. New York: Harper & Brothers; Pittsburgh: Gildenfenny & Hess, Fifth avenue.

This is an interesting book, especially to the student of Bible lore. It treats of a region of country in the east heretofore, but little explored and which, judging from the facts in this book, "pays" the traveller for the time and trouble. The land of Moab is mentioned with frequency in Holy Writ and the facts set forth in this volume in a convincing way, illustrate the accuracy of Scripture history. The style of the book is entertaining also—clear, free flowing and never turgid.

THE SON OF THE ORGAN-GRINDER. By Maria Sophie Schwartz, authoress of "Gold and Name," "Two Family Mothers," &c. Translated from the Swedish by Selma Borg and Maria A. Brown. Philadelphia: Porter & Coates. Pittsburgh: J. W. Pittock & Co.

This, in brief, is the story of a poor boy, the son of a dissolute father, who resolved to be a better representative of manhood than his sire, and by diligence and perseverance, and a strict adherence to principle, won success. The scene of the story is laid in Sweden, and there are some very interesting scenes of Swedish life. The book throughout is pure in its tone, and written in a style that will please the fancy of any juvenile reader.

JOHN GODSOE'S LEGACY. By Elijah Kellogg, author of "The Sophomores of Radcliffe, &c., &c.; Illustrated. Boston: Lee & Shepard; New York: Lee, Shepard and Dillingham; Pittsburgh: J. R. Weldin & Co.

This is one of the Pleasant Cove series of story books. Mr. Kellogg as a writer for the young cannot be fully endorsed, and this book seems not to be an improvement. It purports to "show the almost indestructible influence of a Christian home and early moral training," but there is interweaved in it a little too much slang, and bravado, and description of the blood and thunder type to make it a good book to put into the hands of a boy.

BELLEHOOD AND BONDAGE. By Mrs. Ann S. Stephens, author of "Good Hopes Choice," "Fashion and Famine," &c. Philadelphia: T. B. Peterson and Brothers; Pittsburgh: J. W. Pittock & Co.

This is one of the frothy style of novels, that somehow find readers,—of a certain class. In the first stages of the book a couple of young girls of the callow age, fall in love with two "noble youths" at a tea party, and with this basis to work upon, the authoress contrives to fill in nearly five hundred pages. One of the young girls subsequently discarded the sentimental charmer of her young days and married a man for his wealth, by which means she was enabled to live a life of bondage and misery thereafter. That's the story.

THE YACHT CLUB, or The Young Boat Builder By Oliver Optic, author of "Young America Abroad," and many other interesting books; With Thirteen Illustrations. Boston: Lee & Sheppard; New York Lee, Sheppard & Dillingham; Pittsburgh: J. R. Weldin & Co.

The boys will find this an interesting book, full of adventure and full too, of healthy sentiment—which is not always the case with Optic's productions. The scene of the story is laid on the shores of Penobscot Bay and there are plenty of sports on water and shore, to fascinate the youthful reader. The hero of the story Donald is a poor boy whose lack of money is atoned for by an abundance of pluck and enterprise and manly independence to make him generally popular and eventually highly successful.

MISS DOROTHY'S CHARGE; a Novel by Frank Lee Benedict, author of "My Daughter Elinor," &c. New York: Harper & Brothers; Pittsburgh: Gildenfenny & Hess, Fifth avenue.

This is one of the best novels that has yet come to hand during the season. Miss Dorothy's Charge consists of two young nieces who, by the death of their wealthy but dissolute father, were thrown upon her care, and by a wise system of training, became true women. The plot is very simple, but all the characters are well drawn, and the scenes blended in an entertaining way. The great charm of the whole work is its naturalness, —a feature which, in the modern novel, is quite a rarity. The book is quite entertaining.

KENNETH, The Earl of Glyngyle. By George W. M. Reynolds, author "The Mysteries of the Court of London," "Agnes Evelyn," &c., Philadelphia: T. B. Peterson & Brothers; Pittsburgh: J. W. Pittock & Co.

This is a Scottish historical romance, the scenes being laid in the closing years of the 15th century. It is a novel of the intense school where all the characters are brought up to the highest pitch and every scene dramatic. It is filled with scenes at Court, dazzling wealth, deep dark mystery, bloody encounters, gorgeous palaces, sufficient to make it spicy enough for the most exacting devourer of the sensational.

GOLDEN SUNBEAMS, a collection of new music for the Sabbath School, the social meeting, and the home circle, by G. T. F. Hodges and J. H. Tenney, Boston, Lee & Shepard, Pittsburgh, J. R. Weldin & Co. This contains a number of new selections of a choice character, and looks to be about as good as any of its predecessors in that line.
